

Adversarial Authorship & Countermeasures with GatorCAAT

Rahul Alapati
Department of Computer Science and
Software Engineering
Auburn University
rza0037@auburn.edu

Sutanu Bhattacharya
Department of Computer Science and
Software Engineering
Auburn University
szb0134@auburn.edu

Suraj Raymond D'Souza
Department of Computer Science and
Software Engineering
Auburn University
szd0075@auburn.edu

Abstract—Authorship Attribution systems were originally developed to aid in criminal investigations and attribution of historical texts. However, in the current digital age, authorship attribution systems can be abused to break the anonymity of users by identifying their writing style. Over the last few years, there have been major advances in the field of author obfuscation and imitation which ensure the privacy of the users. In this paper, we discuss one such author masking technique and also analyze its effect on different authorship attribution systems.

On the other hand, these authorship attribution systems have not been originally designed to operate in adversarial settings and hence are vulnerable to carefully-crafted attacks and security violations. In this work, we develop a new Authorship Attribution system, GatorCAAT-II, with countermeasures and defenses to successfully defend such attacks.

Keywords—Adversarial Authorship, Author Masking, GatorCAAT, Adversarial Attacks, Countermeasures, Defenses, GatorCAAT-II

I. INTRODUCTION

During the last two decades, the number of people using internet and social media have grown tremendously. However, most of the users actively sharing information over the internet, are consciously or unconsciously revealing their identity, without considering the consequences of easy accessibility and the permanent nature of the disseminated data. The detrimental consequences range from personalized advertisements and the sale of personal information up to threats concerning personal safety [1]. For example, the writing style of a user is often unique across different profiles and can thereby be used to attribute writing samples to their corresponding authors, compromising their secrecy and privacy.

Recent works on adversarial stylometry, author obfuscation, imitation and masking, have tried to conceal the identity of authors by fooling the underlying algorithms in the author identification systems. Paraphrasing and Iterative Language Translation are two well-known approaches in author masking.

Over the last few years, the field of authorship attribution has been used to great effect by historians and literary detectives to identify the authors of the Federalist Papers, Civil War letters, and Shakespeare's plays. The use of machine learning techniques in authorship attribution has contributed to literary and historical breakthroughs. However, these machine learning models are prone to adversarial attacks, motivated by the desire to protect anonymity and privacy in a variety of scenarios, which have a devastating effect on the classification accuracy of the Authorship Attribution systems [2]. Current research has proposed different countermeasures and defenses to prevent author identification systems from such attacks.

The organization of the paper is as follows: In section II, methodology is elaborated. In section III, the experiments and results are discussed in detail. Section IV ends the paper with discussion on the breakdown of work among the three authors.

II. METHODOLOGY

A. Author Masking

The goals of the adversarial attacks are to create a forgery of another author by imitating his writing style, and to mask the original author. By imitating the writing style of an author, the adversary will be able to fool the authorship attribution system into believing that the writing sample was written by a targeted author, who didn't write it. In masking, the adversary takes a writing sample and modifies it in order to conceal the true authorship [3]. Author masking can be achieved with the use of Paraphraser and Language Translators.

Paraphraser convert the original writing samples, by restating the meaning of the text in the sample using other words. Though paraphrasing retains the essence of the writing sample, it changes the term frequencies, words and other statistics of the writing samples. As a result, the author identification systems trained on these statistics, can be attacked successfully. As a part of author masking, we have developed a simple paraphraser using tokenizing in NLTK python library [4]. However, the resulting masked writing sample was safe but not sound and sensible [5].

Language Translators translate the text in the writing samples from one language to another language, there by changing the statistics of the writing sample while retaining the semantics. Initially, we have used the python Google API, googletans [6], for language translation and the resulting masked writing samples were safe, sound and sensible. However, we couldn't use it to mask multiple writing samples due to its limitations like maximum character limit of 15k per day.

Then, we have used the python Yandex translator [7] to successfully mask the writing samples. We have applied Iterative Language translation from English to Russian, Russian to English, English to Arabic and then Arabic to English for masking the writing samples. The languages and the translation order were selected based on the combination resulting in maximum confidence. Also, the translation traces were observed to determine the sensibility and soundness of the masked writing sample.

B. GatorCAAT-II

GatorCAAT-II was developed in order to successfully defend the adversarial attacks, which the GatorCAAT couldn't defend. The following countermeasures and defenses were developed as a part of GatorCAAT-II:

1. We have used the 10 binary coded feature masks with highest accuracies in 10 runs of the Elitist Genetic and Feature Selection Algorithm (GEFeS) of Assignment 3 [8] and trained 10 different models on the SEC Sports Writers Dataset [9-18] for authorship attribution. Also, we have considered a feature mask which is an average of all the 10 best feature masks and trained a model.
2. We have used the 10 real coded feature weights with highest accuracies in 10 runs of the GEFeS of Assignment 3 and trained 10 different models on the SEC Sports Writers Dataset for authorship attribution. Also, we have considered a feature weight which is an average of all the 10 best feature weights and trained a model.
3. We have multiplied the 10 feature masks and feature weights with highest accuracies in 10 runs of the GEFeS of Assignment 3 and used them for training 10 different models on the SEC Sports Writers Dataset for authorship attribution. Also, we trained a model using the average of the 10 feature masks and feature weights. We have trained another model, by only considering the top 3 feature masks and feature weights in 10 runs of the GEFeS of Assignment 3.
4. We considered 62 ASCII values from 65 to 127 and developed a character bigram feature extractor. Then, we have used the character bigram feature extractor to extract 772 features with frequency greater than 0, from the SEC Sports Writers Dataset. Using the 772 character bigram feature vectors, we have generated a real coded feature weight vector using the Steady State, Elitist and Elitist Estimation of Distribution Algorithm GEFeS. Finally, we have trained 3 different models using the 3 corresponding feature weight vectors.

III. EXPERIMENTS AND RESULTS

A. Author Masking

Here, we masked the 3 writing samples of CASIS-25 Dataset belonging to authors 1000, 1007 and 1022 respectively and 3 sixth week game recaps of SEC Sports Writers Dataset belonging to Stine, Andreu and Thompson respectively. The 6 writing samples were masked using Iterative Language Translation from English to Russian, Russian to English, English to Arabic and then Arabic to English. See Appendix for the masked writing samples.

Then the GatorCAAT authorship attribution system (AISv1) trained using the best real coded feature weight, was attacked with these 6 masked writing samples. All the attacks were successful and the GatorCAAT successfully misclassified all the 6 authors as shown below in Table 1 and 2.

Table 1: GatorCAAT author predictions on CASIS-25 Masked Writing Samples

True Author	Predicted Author
1000	1023
1007	1023
1022	1023

Table 2: GatorCAAT author predictions on SEC Sports Writers Masked Writing Samples

True Author	Predicted Author
Stine	Long
Andreu	Long
Thompson	Long

B. Attack

Here, we masked the game recaps of 9 SEC teams namely LSU, Texas A & M, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State, Tennessee, Auburn, Ole Miss, South Carolina and Alabama. The 9 game recaps were masked using Iterative Language Translation from English to Russian, Russian to English, English to Arabic and then Arabic to English. See Appendix for the masked writing samples.

Then the 9 masked writing samples were tested on the authorship identification systems (AISv1) of respective teams by the respective team members. It was reported that, 4 out of 9 writing samples were able to successfully attack the AISv1 and 5 out of 9 attacks were defended by the AISv1. The results of the attacks are shown below in Table 3.

Table 3: Attacks on the AISv1 of SEC Teams

SEC Team	Attack Successful/Defended
LSU	Successful
Texas A & M	Successful
Vanderbilt	Successful
Alabama	Successful
Mississippi State	Defended
Tennessee	Defended
Auburn	Defended
Ole Miss	Defended
South Carolina	Defended

C. Defend

Here, the 6th week game recap of our team Florida written by Thompson was masked by 8 SEC Teams. See Appendix for the masked writing samples. To defend against those attacks, we came up with a version 2.0 of our AISv1 GatorCAAT, namely GatorCAAT-II.

Our AISv1 GatorCAAT, was able to defend only one attack from Auburn and all other 7 attacks were successful as shown below in Table 4. Whereas, our AISv2 GatorCAAT-II was able to successfully defend 7 out of 8 attacks as shown in Table 8.

Table 4: Attacks on our AISv1 GatorCAAT

SEC Team	Attack Successful/Defended
Auburn	Defended
South Carolina	Successful
Kentucky	Successful
Mississippi State	Successful
Tennessee	Successful
Texas A & M	Successful
Ole Miss	Successful
LSU	Successful

As a part of the development of GatorCAAT-II different countermeasures were developed and tested. The following are results of the defenses:

Defense 1: We have used the 10 binary coded feature masks with highest accuracies in 10 runs of the Elitist Genetic and Feature Selection Algorithm (GEFeS) of Assignment 3 and trained 10 different models on the SEC Sports Writers Dataset for authorship attribution. Also, we have considered a feature mask which is an average of all the 10 best feature masks and trained a model.

Table 5: Results of Best Model with maximum number of Defenses in Defense 1 (Model trained using the feature mask of Run 9 of EGA GEFeS)

SEC Team	Attack Successful/Defended
Auburn	Defended
South Carolina	Defended
Kentucky	Successful
Mississippi State	Successful
Tennessee	Successful
Texas A & M	Successful
Ole Miss	Successful
LSU	Successful

Defense 2: We have used the 10 real coded feature weights with highest accuracies in 10 runs of the GEFeS of Assignment 3 and trained 10 different models on the SEC Sports Writers Dataset for authorship attribution. Also, we have considered a feature weight which is an average of all the 10 best feature weights and trained a model.

Table 6: Results of Best Model with maximum number of Defenses in Defense 2 (Model trained using the feature weight of Run 3 of EGA GEFeS)

SEC Team	Attack Successful/Defended
Auburn	Defended
Kentucky	Defended
Tennessee	Defended
Mississippi State	Successful
LSU	Successful
South Carolina	Successful
Ole Miss	Successful
Texas A & M	Successful

Defense 3: We have multiplied the 10 feature masks and feature weights with highest accuracies in 10 runs of the GEFeS of Assignment 3 and used them for training 10 different models on the SEC Sports Writers Dataset for authorship attribution. Also, we trained a model using the average of the 10 feature masks and feature weights. We have trained another model, by only considering the top 3 feature masks and feature weights in 10 runs of the GEFeS of Assignment 3.

Table 7: Results of Best Model with maximum number of Defenses in Defense 3 (Model trained using the feature mask and feature weight of Run 2 of EGA GEFeS)

SEC Team	Attack Successful/Defended
Auburn	Defended
South Carolina	Defended
Texas A & M	Defended
Mississippi State	Successful
LSU	Successful
Kentucky	Successful
Ole Miss	Successful
Tennessee	Successful

Best Defense 4: We considered 62 ASCII values from 65 to 127 and developed a character bigram feature extractor. Then, we have used the character bigram feature extractor to extract 772 features with frequency greater than 0, from the SEC Sports Writers Dataset. Using the 772 character bigram feature vectors, we have generated a real coded feature weight vector using the Steady State, Elitist and Elitist Estimation of Distribution Algorithm GEFES. Finally, we have trained 3 different models using the 3 corresponding feature weight vectors.

- [12] <https://www.orlandosentinel.com/>.
- [13] <http://www.tampabay.com/>.
- [14] <https://www.palmbeachpost.com/>.
- [15] <https://www.local10.com/>.
- [16] <https://www.cbssports.com/>.
- [17] <https://www.tennessean.com/>.
- [18] <https://www.alligatorarmy.com/>.

Table 8: Results of Best Defense developed using Character Bigram Feature Vectors (AISv2 GatorCAAT-II)

SEC Team	Attack Successful/Defended
Auburn	Defended
South Carolina	Defended
Mississippi State	Defended
LSU	Defended
Kentucky	Defended
Ole Miss	Defended
Tennessee	Defended
Texas A & M	Successful

IV. BREAKDOWN OF WORK

Rahul was responsible for masking the writing samples of other SEC teams and attacking their AISv1. He was also responsible for the development of GatorCAAT-II (our AISv2) and defending the attacks of other teams.

Sutanu was responsible for masking 3 CASIS-25 and 3 SEC sports writers game recaps and attacking our AISv1.

Suraj was responsible for the collection of masked writing samples from other SEC Teams and also handled further communication.

REFERENCES

- [1] Backes, Michael, Pascal Berrang, and Praveen Manoharan. "Poster: Assessing the effectiveness of countermeasures against authorship recognition." In 2015 IEEE Symposium on Security and Privacy, SP, pp. 17-21. 2015.
- [2] Brennan, Michael Robert, and Rachel Greenstadt. "Practical attacks against authorship recognition techniques." In IAAI. 2009.
- [3] Simko, Lucy, Luke Zettlemoyer, and Tadayoshi Kohno. "Recognizing and Imitating Programmer Style: Adversaries in Program Authorship Attribution." Proceedings on Privacy Enhancing Technologies 2018, no. 1 (2018): 127-144.
- [4] <https://pypi.org/project/nltk/>
- [5] <https://pan.webis.de/clef16/pan16-web/author-obfuscation.html>
- [6] <https://pypi.org/project/googletrans/>
- [7] <https://tech.yandex.com/translate/>
- [8] R Alapati, S Bhattacharya, S Dsouza. "Authorship Attribution with GatorCAAT: Genetic and Evolutionary Feature Selection (GEFeS)".
- [9] <http://www.staugustine.com/>.
- [10] <http://www.ocala.com/>.
- [11] <https://www.alligator.org/>.

Appendix

1. AUTHOR MASKING

CASIS-25 Writing Samples

a) Original Writing Sample: Written by Author 1000

This Sunday at 5.30pm on BBC One the 50th anniversary programme of Songs Of Praise, Songs Of Praise: 50th Birthday Celebration transmits. Fifty years in broadcasting is an incredible achievement. From humble beginnings broadcast from the Tabernacle Welsh Baptist Church in Cardiff on October 1 1961 Songs Of Praise has become nothing short of a national institution and the cornerstone of our religious and ethics programming. I was lucky enough to be one of nearly 7,000 at the recording of the programme on Sunday 25th September at the birthplace of TV, Alexandra Palace. It was absolutely fantastic to be part of the audience, and also meet many viewers, presenters past and present, and some of those behind the scenes who had worked on the programme over the years. Songs of Praise surviving and flourishing is no accident; a lot of people on- and off-screen over the last fifty years have worked hard to make it happen. As The Right Rev Nigel McCulloch Bishop Of Manchester wrote in the Radio Times, Songs Of Praise shows "that there really are a lot of good people around." A fitting testimony to the programme if ever there was one. Whilst attending the recording last Sunday some people asked me about a story that had made the headlines that day concerning the use of date systems BCE (Before Common Era) and CE (Common Era). The story, suggesting we had dropped AD (Anno Domini) and BC (Before Christ), was quite simply wrong. We have issued no editorial guidelines or instructions to suggest that anyone in the BBC should change the terms they use. The BBC, like most people, use BC and AD as standard terminology.

Masked Writing Sample:

This Sunday at 5.30 pm in the BBC one program to commemorate their 50th anniversary Songs Of Praise, Songs Of Praise: 50-th birthday, reports. Fifty years in broadcasting-this is an incredible achievement. From humble beginnings broadcast from the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Wales in Cardiff on 1 October 1961 Songs Of Praise has almost become a national institution and the cornerstone of religion and ethics programming. I was lucky enough to be one of nearly 7,000 at the recording of the program on Sunday 25 September in the birthplace of TV, Alexandra Palace. It was awesome to be part of the audience and also satisfy many of the attendees, presenters, past and present, and some of those behind the scenes who worked on the program during the year. Songs of praise for the survival and prosperity is no accident; a lot of people on the screen, over the last fifty years worked hard to achieve it. As the Right Reverend Nigel McCulloch, Bishop of Manchester wrote in the Radio Times, songs of praise shows " that there are a lot of people around us." The appropriate certificate for the program, if there ever was one. During the recording session last Sunday some people asked me about the stories that made headlines that day concerning the use of the modern BC (before the modern era) and CE (current era). History, which indicates that we have signed AD (Anno Domini) BC (Before Christ), simply wrong. We have issued no editorial guidelines or instructions to suggest that someone in bi-bi-SI to change the terms of use. Bi-bi-si, like most people, use BC and ad as standard terminology.

b) Original Writing Sample: Written by Author 1007

In 1991, the country had been in the grip of Ram Lehar (Ram Mandir wave) but for the tragic assassination of former PM Rajiv Gandhi, BJP would have swept majority of the states. A minority government was formed under the leadership of Narasimha Rao. It is only a coincidence that Rao (and not a Gandhi icon) was chosen to lead the Congress as after Rajiv's tragic death his widow Sonia Gandhi refused to enter politics; Rahul and Priyanka were too small then. It is ironical, that though Rao's elevation as PM had the blessings of Sonia Gandhi, with the passage of time, the astute and veteran politician from Andhra Pradesh distanced himself from 10 Janpath, much to the disliking of Sonia Gandhi. It was perhaps the first time the Gandhi family faced serious challenge since the party formally split under Indira Gandhi in 1967. Interesting, while Sonia Gandhi always remained a "reluctant politician" refusing to enter politics she managed to keep a grip on the party and managed to communicate to Rao through her loyalists such as AK Antony, Gulam Nabi Azad and Manmohan Singh. In politics it is never wise to write-off either a strong leader or a well-established political party, just as it is unfair not to take seriously an emerging player such as the Aam Aadmi Party. So even as Congress may be heading towards a serious defeat in the 2014 elections, all is not lost. The rise of Modi is also seeing a rapid polarisation of Muslim voters. If Congress manages to pull-off clever alliances before the elections it may just cushion its fall or even force a workable Third Front with its outside support - just like it backed Chandrashekhar in 1990.

Masked Writing Sample:

In 1991 the country was in the grip of a RAM Lehar (RAM Mandir), but the tragic assassination of former prime minister Rajiv Gandhi, the BJP has swept most of the states. A minority government is formed under the leadership and Mr. PV Narasimha Rao. Is it just a coincidence that Rao (and not a symbol of Gandhi) have been chosen to lead the Congress after the tragic death of Rajiv's widow Sonia Gandhi refused to enter politics; Rahul and Priyanka were too small then. It is curious that despite of the high Rao as PM he has the blessings of Sonia Gandhi, with the passage of time, seasoned and experienced politician from the state of Andhra Pradesh has distanced himself from 10 of Delhi to a large extent dislike of Sonia Gandhi. It was probably the first time Gandhi family is facing a serious challenge officially split under Indira Gandhi in 1967.

Interestingly, while Sonia Gandhi was always "reluctant politician" refusing to participate in politics, managed to maintain control of the party and managed to chat with Rao through its supporters, such as a. Was. Antony and Ghulam Nabi Azad and Manmohan Singh.

In politics it is never wise to write off any strong leader or founding a political party like this is not fair don't take seriously the developing of players like the party of the AAM test.

And even in Congress may be on the verge of serious defeat on elections in 2014, all is not lost. The rise of Modi has also been noted the rapid polarization of Muslim voters. The conference succeeded in detachment smart alliances before the election, might soften her fall or even to impose my work a third front with outside support - just as the support of Chandrashekhar in 1990.

c) Original Writing Sample: Written by Author 1022

In this light, many international organisations and national governments are working on providing a strong link between policy-level interventions and operational outcomes in order to make an impact on the lives of target groups. This will require a comprehensive approach throughout the region to maximise connections among the different stakeholders and to act as a platform for promoting the co-ordination and capacity development of national actors to engage in planning, reform and multi-stakeholder dialogue.

Inclusion and participation of poor people can be ensured through a range of mechanisms. For example, the World Bank in Latin America taking concrete measures through projectised interventions. It is training judges and other court personnel in local languages and cultures to promote access to marginalised communities in Guatemala. Projects in Colombia, Guatemala, and Peru are experimenting with decentralised court services as well as services offered by travelling judges and public defenders.

Recently, UNDP introduced legal aid for justice, an initiative designed to provide comprehensive support to legal aid systems across different regions, using the UN principles and guidelines on access to legal aid in criminal justice systems as its foundation. This initiative will be further deepened by a series of related studies and publications based on the needs of individual countries.

Achieving judicial integrity is not a top-down, supply-driven process. We need to ensure genuine civic engagement, especially with young people, in order to empower women, disadvantaged and vulnerable groups—and create a bottom-up demand for judicial accountability.

Masked Writing Sample:

In light of this, many international organizations and national governments are working on providing a close link between political action and operational decisions in order to impact on the lives of the target group. This requires a comprehensive approach throughout the organization to maximize the relationship between the various stakeholders serve as a platform to facilitate coordination and capacity development of national actors to participate in planning, reform and multi-stakeholder. And participation of the poor can be achieved through a number of mechanisms. For example, the World Bank in Latin America taking concrete measures projectised interventions. Is the training of judges and other court personnel in local languages and cultures to facilitate access to marginalized communities in Guatemala. Projects in Colombia, Guatemala, and Peru are experimenting with decentralization of judicial services as well as services provided by visiting judges and public defenders.

A recent United Nations Development Programme legal aid for Justice Initiative to provide comprehensive support to legal aid systems in various regions, using the United Nations guidelines on access to legal aid in criminal justice systems as its foundation. This initiative will continue because the number of relevant studies and publications based on the needs of individual countries.

Make sure the honesty and integrity of the judiciary and not from the top to the bottom of the product. We must ensure the real participation of citizens, especially youth, to empower women, disadvantaged and vulnerable dhoire to create the next demand for judicial accountability.

SEC Sports Writers Writing Samples

a) Original Writing Sample: Written by Stine

Dan Mullen raised his arms, pumping up the crowd before his team burst out of the tunnel.

It was the loudest The Swamp had been all season... until 1:45 remained in the UF-LSU rivalry.

Tigers quarterback Joe Burrow rifled a pass intended for 6-foot-7 target Stephen Sullivan, but it was cut off by Brad Stewart. The Florida safety secured the ball and had a wealth green grass in front of him. He dove for the pylon with one man to beat and snuck the pigskin just inside.

Eruption in the stands.

"(I) want to thank the Gator Nation, the student body and the all fans for the unbelievable atmosphere," Mullen said.

"The Swamp is an intimidating place to come play. It gave us an incredible home-field advantage."

The defensive touchdown turned a one-point lead into a margin of eight. Another intercepted Burrow heave later, it was over. UF knocked off the No. 5 team in the country 27-19, disrupting the opponent's signal caller while feeding off of the improving play of its offense.

The 2008 National Championship team and Ring-of-Honor inductee Tim Tebow were greeted by frenzying fans, and LSU tried to shut up the crowd early.

A 38-yard strike from Burrow to Justin Jefferson on the game's first play started an opening drive into the red zone. Burrow threw for a big third-and-6 conversion that led to running back Nick Brossette scampering for six, giving the Tigers the an early 7-0 lead.

"We got punched right in the face and didn't flinch," Mullen said. "That's a lot of credit to Nick Savage with what he's done for the team. How they believe in each other, how they fight."

The Florida defense tightened up from there. LSU drove into UF territory once again, but a strip-sack forced by edge rusher Jachai Polite gave the Gators the ball and brought the crowd back to life.

Polite and the defensive line made Burrow uncomfortable all night. They caused five sacks, eight quarterback hurries and three turnovers, including the Ohio State transfer's first picks of the year.

The Gators forced consecutive three-and-outs to give the offense an opportunity to tie up the game on its fourth possession.

It did just that behind Lamical Perine. The junior running back had 26 yards on Florida's first touchdown march, capping it with one-yard score with 12:30 remaining in the second quarter. He led all UF rushers with 85 yards on 17 attempts and two end zone trips.

Feleipe Franks struggled early despite ushering the touchdown. It wasn't until 3:10 was left in the first half that the redshirt sophomore looked a confident passer.

He was 2-7 for 14 yards to that point, but he got comfortable with a check down to Perine and a quick pass to Van Jefferson that went for a first down. Then, a 35-yard strike to Josh Hammond set up an easy throw to tight end Moral Stephens and put UF up 14-10.

Franks' looked to be heating up in the second half when he delivered another bomb to Hammond, this time for 49 yards, and a personal foul against LSU moved UF all the way to the 13-yard line.

But the quarterback regretted his next decision. He forced the football over the middle for Stephens with a man in his face, throwing a costly red-zone pick rather than taking a sack.

The Crawfordville, Florida, product finished his back-and-forth outing 12-for-27 for 161 yards with a score and a pick through the air, while he trudged for 46 yards on the ground in six attempts.

The Florida offense posted three-consecutive three-and-outs after the interception, while the Tigers clawed back with a field goal for the third quarter's only points.

However, the visitors' workhorse, Brossette, stepped up in fourth quarter. He had back-to-back carries of 31 and 48 yards in LSU's opening drive of the frame, then rammed in a one-yard touchdown to give his team a 19-14 advantage. Franks found life on the next drive, showcasing his underrated athleticism.

He fit in a bullet to Jefferson on a deep out-route. Twenty-six yards. He recognized no man marking him on a critical third-and-long an rumbled downhill to move the chains. Eleven yards. Then, he caught a pass from former junior college pitcher Lucas Krull on a trick play. Fifteen yards. First-and-goal Florida.

Perine punched in the rock on the next play, hoisting Florida to a 20-19 lead. It missed the two-point attempt that followed but never gave up the lead.

"You ever try to hold a rope and it starts ripping out of your hands? It's burning your hands," Mullen said. "Eventually we stopped the slide and we started yanking and pulling it back in. And we were able to win the tug of war there at the end."

Masked Writing Sample:

Dan Mullen raised his hands, pumping up the crowd before his team burst out of the tunnel.

It was loud the swamp was the entire season until 1:45 remained in the UF-LSU development.

Tigers quarterback Joe Barrow guns a pass intended for the 6-foot-7 goal Stephen Sullivan, but he was cut off by Brad Stuart. Security Florida secured the ball and the richness of the green grass in front of him. He dove for the conflict, with one man beaten and steal the pig skin on the inside.

The explosion in the stands.

(I) I want to thank the Gator Nation students and all the fans an incredible atmosphere, Mullen said. The swamp is a scary place to play. It gave us an incredible advantage.

The defensive touchdown was one point in the margin eight. Another hole I thought to him, over. UF dropped the team to No. 5 in the country 27-19, breaking the opponents signal caller, and get improved play from the offensive.

2008 national championship team Ring of Honor inductee Tim Tebow was greeted frenzying fans, LSU tried to silence the crowd early.

In a 38-yard strike from hole to Justin Jefferson on the Games first began to play the opening drive in the red zone. Nora threw a big second-6 the analysis that led to running back Nick Brossette run on six, giving the Tigers an early 7-0 lead.

We're hit right in the face and not flinch, Mullen said. It's a lot of the credit for Nick brutal with what he has done for the team. They believe in each other, how they fight.

Florida's defense tightened from there. LSU went to UF territory again, but a sack forced the edge on the Jachai Polite and gave the Gators the ball and brought the crowd back to life.

Courteous and defensive line buried uncomfortable all night. Have caused five sacks, eight hurries defender and three rolls, including the state of Ohio passes the first picks of the year.

My choice forced three consecutive to the offense a chance to tie the game in the fourth ball.

I've done that Lamical Perine. Junior running back 26 yards for a reasonable price on the first touchdown march, capping it with a one-yard score with 12:30 remaining in the third quarter. The leaders of each of the UV attack with 85 yards on 17 attempts and two trips to the region.

Feleipe Franks fought before, although he entered in the fall. It wasn't until 3:10 left in the first half of this edit a student must be confident of passing.

He was 2-7 for 14 yards but got comfortable with the check down quilt a quick pass to Van Jefferson, who first went down. Then after a 35-yard strike to Josh Hammond created easy to throw in the tight end Moral Stephens and UV to 14-10.

Frankie looks to be heating in the second half when he threw another bomb to Hammond, this time 49 yards and a personal foul against LSU moved to the UF 13-yard line.

But the midfielder came to regret the decision. He made football more than the middle to Stevens with a man in the face, threw a costly red zone check her bag.

City, Florida, home, ready, back and forth stroll 12-27 161 yards with a score through the air until he gave up 46 yards on the ground in six attempts.

Crime in Florida has posted three consecutive three and outs after the interception, while the Tigers claws with a field goal, the only third-quarter points.

However, visitors to the horse, Brossette, stepped in the fourth quarter. We had back to back carries of 31 and 48 yards in the opening LSUs engine frame, and then squeeze in a yard touchdown to give his team 19-14 advantage.

Frankie found life on the following drive, appears underrated sports.

It fits in the bullet Jefferson on a deep route. Twenty-six yards. I thought no one heard him on a critical third-and-long hand down to move the chains. Eleven yards. Then he grabbed a pass from former college pitcher Lucas Kroll on a trick play. Fifteen meters. First-target Florida.

Perrin punched in the rock in the next game, lifting Florida to a 20-19 lead. Why point try which followed, but did not give leadership.

Have you ever tried to hold the rope, and I began the tears of your hands? Burning her hand, Mullen said. In the end we settled on the slide and started to pull and pull again. And we managed to win the tug-of-war in the end.

b) Original Writing Sample: Written by Andreu

For what turned out to be one glorious afternoon in The Swamp, the Florida Gators found a way to turn back the clock to 2008.

At least that's what it looked and felt like.

There was Tim Tebow, on the field, pumping up the fans and receiving the loudest cheers from a raucous sellout crowd. There was the Florida quarterback, taking a rocker step forward, then backing up and throwing a touchdown pass in the first half.

There was a lefty completing a crucial pass on the game-winning drive.

There was that atmosphere, that loud, insane environment that provided the ultimate home-field advantage.

And there were the Gators, playing like champions, responding big-time with a fourth-quarter comeback to beat the No. 5 team in the nation.

On the same afternoon that the 2008 national championship team was honored and Tebow went into the Ring of Honor, the 2018 Gators made a statement about themselves Saturday, rallying in the fourth quarter to upset LSU 27-19 before a full house (90,283) at Steve Spurrier-Florida Field.

"Man, just a big-time win," quarterback Feleipe Franks said. "It feels so good, just getting the Gator standard back.

"Our fans, I ran to our fans after the game because they're the guys who are helping us out when we're in The Swamp. When we get The Swamp packed out like that, it's hard to explain.

"A great team win, man."

Does this really mean the Gator standard that coach Dan Mullen is always talking about is back? We'll know more after we see what this win leads to the rest of the way.

Clearly, though, The Swamp is back, providing the energy and atmosphere that always meant so much back in those championship days.

"I want to thank the Gator Nation and all the fans, our student body, for the atmosphere," said Mullen, whose team rises to 5-1 overall and 3-1 in the SEC. "I came back to Florida, and there's a Florida I know and there's a Florida that I love and I know our players love.

"I'll never forget all the former players that are right now celebrating with our guys in that locker room. There's a Gator standard that they expect the team to live up to, but they also expect Gator Nation to live up to. And it was that way tonight.

"The Swamp was an intimidating place to come play. It gave us an incredible home-field advantage."

The Gators rewarded their fans with the biggest home win since UF beat No. 3 Ole Miss in 2015.

Like a week ago, the Gators won the game in the fourth quarter with a clutch touchdown drive.

Responding to an LSU touchdown that put the Tigers up 19-14 with 11:14 left in the game, the UF offense, which had been struggling, drove 75 yards for the winning score, the TD coming on a 2-yard run by Lamical Perine with 8:48 to play.

"I would say given the circumstances (that was our best drive of the season)," Franks said. "We were down and had gotten punched in the mouth. It's how you respond. Our guys responded really well. Putting it in the end zone was big time."

The play before the score, the Gators got a key completion from a lefty passer — tight end Lucas Krull, who took an end-around handoff from Franks and headed left, then stopped and threw a pass back to Franks for a 15-yard gain.

As it turns out, Tebow was Krull's idol growing up.

"I went up to him after the game and asked if I could get a picture with him," Krull said. "He said, 'Of course.' He said, 'Great throw, great team win.'"

The Gators pretty much sealed the victory when sophomore safety Brad Stewart Jr. intercepted a Joe Burrow pass and returned it 25 yards for a touchdown with just 1:45 to play.

"I saw the quarterback peek over at his receiver, and he knew our linebacker was about to blitz," Stewart said. "So, I just made the play off of the receiver."

The play brought the house down.

And Saturday's outcome has some thinking the Gators are back as contenders in the SEC.

“We battled today,” Mullen said. “But we’ve got a lot of things we’ve got to improve on. “Now, our challenge as a team is to fix what we didn’t do well and get better.”

Masked Writing Sample:

Didn't turned out to be one nice day in the swamp, the Florida Gators found a way to turn back the clock to 2008. At least that's what it seemed.

There was Tim Tebow in the field, pumping up the fans to the loud applause of the noisy crowd sales.

There was central Florida, taking a step forward to rock, then back to the Wales goal in the first half.

There was a left-handed completing a crucial pass on the winning drive.

There was this atmosphere, loud, crazy environment, provided that the final feature.

There was the alligator, to play like champions, to request more time with a fourth quarter comeback to defeat Team No. 5 in the nation.

On the same day that the 2008 national championship was well-deserved, and Thibault went to the Ring Company 2018 Crocodile made a statement on the same day, Saturday, because in the fourth quarter to disruption of LSU 27-19 before the full house (90,283) Steve Spurrier-Florida region.

Man, it's just a big win, defender Feleipe Franks. It's a very good feeling, only on the level of alligator.

Our fans, I ran to the fans after the game, because it's written by the guys who help us when she was in the swamp.

When we get to the swamp so packed it's hard to explain.

Many of the teams won.

Is this the standard of the alligator coach Dan Mullen always say again? Well, I know that once you see that this victory leads to the rest of the way.

It is clear that the swamp again, providing the energy and vibe that always means a lot in those days of unemployment.

I want to thank the Gator Nation and fans, our students, the atmosphere, and said My lord, who raise the total score of 5: 1 and 3: 1 in seconds. I returned to Florida in Florida I know that there are in Florida that I like and I know I love the players.

I will never forget all the former players who are now celebrating with the players in the locker room. There is a living crocodile they expect the team to live up to, but they also expect Gator Nation to live up to. And it was on this night.

The swamp was a scary place to play. It gave us an incredible advantage.

Crocodiles have rewarded fans the largest home win since UF beat No. 3 Ole Miss in 2015.

A week before my choice won the game in the fourth quarter with a touchdown drive clutch.

In response to an LSU touchdown that put the Tigers up 19-14 11:14 to the end of the game, the UF offense, which was struggling, drove 75 yards for the winning score TD 2-yard run on Lamical Perine with 8:48 to play.

I have to say, given the circumstances (this was the best trip of the season), said Frankie. We were and blow on the jaw.

How you answer. Our guys really responded well. Put it in the end zone and had a great time.

To play in front of the result the crocodiles got the key from the complete left-handed passers-by tight end Luke Kroll who took the end-around pass from the Franks and went to the left, then stopped and threw the ball back to Franks 15-yard gain.

As it turned out, Tebow Krulls idol.

I approached him after the game and asked if I could get a picture with him, said Kroll. He said: of course. He said a great team win.

Crocodiles almost sealed the victory when freshman safety Brad Stewart Jr. arrested Joe Barrow's pass and returned it 25 yards to goal with 1:45 to play.

I saw the middle inside receiver, and he knew that midfield was the raid, said Stewart. So made the play-offs of the receiver.

The play was brought to the House.

And Saturday you have the idea of crocodiles again as rivals in the SEC.

We fought today, he said My Lord. But we have a lot of things that we need to improve. Now our goal as a team to fix what we don't do better.

c) Original Writing Sample: Written by Thompson

A pre-game, locker-room pep talk from Florida legends Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel offered the Gators inspiration. Moments later, coach Dan Mullen provided the energy to a sellout crowd, whipping it into a frenzy while he hopped up and down in the south end-zone tunnel and waved his arms like a man possessed.

The stage was a set for a emotional and memorable day in the Swamp.

Mullen and the No. 22 Gators did not disappoint during Saturday's 27-19 win over the No. 5 LSU Tigers.

“We keep finding different ways to win football games,” Mullen said. “We get punched right in the face and we don't flinch. That's something that's huge for this team.

“Huge win for us. Huge win for us going forward.”

With Tebow and the 2008 national-title team among the announced crowd of 90,283, the Gators (5-1, 2-1 SEC) and Tigers treated onlookers to an old-fashioned SEC slugfest followed by a fourth-quarter track meet.

Sophomore safety Brad Stewart, a New Orleans native, sealed the win on an interception returned for a 25-yard touchdown with 1:45 remaining in the game, sending the Swamp into pandemonium.

“Shoutout to Gator Nation because we couldn't hear a thing after that interception or the drive after that,” Stewart said.

Mullen, the team's offensive coordinator in 2005-08, remembers those days well.

“There's a Florida I know, there's a Florida that I love,” the 46-year-old said. “It was that way tonight. The Swamp was an intimidating place to come play.”

Stewart's pick was LSU quarterback Joe Burrow's first interception of the season. The Ohio State transfer suffered another pick to end the next drive along with an unbeaten start for the Tigers (5-1, 2-1).

Stewart's play highlighted a wild fourth quarter that featured the Gators' most impressive drive of the season and ended with UF's fourth straight win and its first against a top-10 opponent since 2015.

"Just a big-time win," quarterback Feleipe Franks said. "It feels so good."

With Tebow in town to be inducted into the UF Ring of Honor and the Gators' trailing 19-14, Franks showcased the kind of versatility Tebow displayed during his decorated career. On the game-winning drive, Franks completed a 26-yard pass, had a 12-yard run and caught a 15-yard pass on a throwback from tight end Lucas Krull to set up Lamical Perine's 2-yard touchdown run.

The touchdown put UF ahead 20-19 and was the game's fourth lead change, the kind of back and forth that has come to be expected in this longstanding crossover rivalry.

"That was a heavyweight fight out there," Mullen said.

The last four meetings were decided by a touchdown or fewer. A goal-line stand earned the Gators a win in 2016 and a missed extra point handed the Tigers' a 17-16 decision last season in the Swamp.

Along with Tebow's induction, his 2008 national-title team was honored at halftime.

UF's players wanted to make those Gators proud and show the progress the program has made under Mullen.

"I talk about the Gator standard. These are the guys that set that standard," Mullen said of Tebow and the 2008 team.

But on the game's opening drive, LSU quickly sucked the life out of the Swamp.

LSU attacked UF's defense by going up-tempo and identifying a weakness, backup cornerback C.J. McWilliams. McWilliams allowed three complete passes, beginning with a 38-yard catch by Justin Jefferson. The fast-paced, 10-play drive covered 75 yards in just 3:17, culminating in 4-yard touchdown run by tailback Nick Brossette.

The Gators failed to answer on offense. Things soon looked bleak as the Tigers drove the field again. But on first-and-10 from the UF 28, Gator pass rusher Jachai Polite turned the corner and strip-sacked Burrow to force the Tigers' fourth turnover of the season.

The play would change the game's complexion. The Tigers stalled and the Gators came to life.

Special teams would be key.

Twice, punter Tommy Townsend pinned the Tigers deep in their territory. The second time, Townsend's punt left LSU starting from its 5.

A third-down sack by linebacker Vosean Joseph, who had a game-high 14 tackles, and poor punt by LSU gave the Gators the ball on the Tigers' 43. From there, UF rode tailback Perine, who grinded out 26 tough yards on seven carries. Perine, who rushed for a season-high 85 yards and two scores, ended the nine-play drive with a 1-yard touchdown run with 12:30 to go in the first half.

"I was just getting into a rhythm," Perine said. "Once I start getting confidence man, getting into that rhythm I feel like I'm a pretty dominant guy."

LSU continued to move the ball, twice reaching into UF territory but only managed three points — on a 33-yard field goal by Cole Tracy for a 10-7 lead.

Franks and the Gators' answered with arguably their best drive of the season, covering 75 yards in seven plays and 2:01. Franks' picture-perfect 35-yard hook-up with Josh Hammond on a corner route was the highlight. Franks followed the play with a 3-yard touchdown pass to Moral Stephens to give UF a 14-10 lead.

Franks, though, would open the second half with the kind of mistake that marred last season but had been rare in 2018.

Franks opened the second half with a 49-yard completion to Hammond, giving the Gators the ball on the Tigers' 13 following a personal-foul penalty by LSU on the play. On the next play, Franks lobbed a throw into the middle of the end zone and into the hands of LSU's cornerback Jontre Kirklin.

LSU capitalized, but it would take awhile.

Trailing 14-10, the Tigers gashed the Gators for 80 yards on the ensuing drive after gaining just 118 yards the previous two quarters. Brossette had runs of 31 and 47 yards before scoring on a 1-yard touchdown.

LSU would not hold the 19-14 lead for long, with the Tebow-inspired Gators taking control in the final nine minutes and taking a big step toward creating their own legacy.

The Gators also are not getting ahead of themselves.

"It's another step for us," defensive back Chauncey Gardner-Johnson said. "We don't dwell on one game."

Masked Writing Sample:

Before the game, the locker room, the enthusiasm of The Legend of Florida's Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel Gators offered inspiration.

Moments later, coach Dan Mullen energy sales in front of a crowd, whisking him into a frenzy until he was jumping up and down in the southern part of the area of the tunnel and waved his arms like a man possessed.

The stage has been set for an emotional and memorable days in the swamp.

Mulan No. 22 Gators won't disappoint during Saturday's 27-19 victory over the No. 5 Tigers of LSU.

We continue to search for different ways to win in football matches, my Lord. We're hit right in the face, and we don't shy away. The big thing for this team.

A big win for us. A big win for us to go forward.

With Tebow and the 2008 national title team among the announced crowd of 90,283, the Gators (5-1, 2-1 SEC) and Tigers spectators good treatment of the old-fashioned again, problems arose during the fourth quarter of the IAAF.

Freshman safety Brad Stuart, a native of New Orleans sealed the win on the interception returned for 25 yards touchdown with 1:45 remaining in the game, sent the moor in the hubbub.

Here is the Gator Nation, because we didn't hear anything after that interception, or the disc, then says Stewart.

Mullen, the team's offensive coordinator in 2005-08, remembers those days.

There in Florida I know in Florida that I love, the 46-year-old. It was on this night. The swamp was a scary place to play.

Stewart chose LSU quarterback Joe Burrows first interception of the season. Ohio State transfer suffered another test until the end of next along with not one of the Tigers (5-1, 2-1).

Stewart to play the leading wild fourth quarter, which showed the Gators ' most impressive drive of the season and finished fourth UF consecutive victory and first against a top-10 opponent in 2015.

Just a great win, defender Feleipe Franks. It feels so good.

With Tebow in the city must be entered in the UF Ring of honor and crocodiles trailing 19-14, Frankie showed the type of versatility Tebow displayed during his career. On the winning drive, the Franks completed a 26-yard 12-yard run, caught a 15-yard return of tight end Luke Kroll to create Lamical Perines 2-yard touchdown run.

The goal of the mode UF by 20-19 games, the fourth change, which is available at this time crossover development.

It was a heavyweight fight there, Mullen said.

The last four meetings have been determined by a touchdown or less. Goal-line stand got the Gators to victory in 2016 and a missed extra point gave the Tigers a 17-16 decision last season in the swamp.

Along with Tebow's definition of the national title in 2008 was honored with the team at half time.

UFS players wanted to make the alligator to show the progress of the programme in the framework of the sire.

I'm talking about the level of alligator. These are the guys that define this standard, Mullen said of Tebow the team in 2008.

But on the Games opening drive, LSU quickly sucked the life out of the swamp.

LSU attacked the defense UFS, going at a fast pace and revealed the weakness, the protection of backup in X. C. Mac Williams. Mac Williams allows three complete passes starting with a 38-yard catch Justin Jefferson. Fast-paced, 10-play drive of 75 yards in 3:17, which ended a 4-yard touchdown run by printer Nick Brossette.

My choice can't answer for the crime. Soon it looked bleak when the Tigers went back to the field. But on first and 10 from the UF 28, alligator pass on the Jachai Polite Corner Gas hole to the strength of the Tigers rotation the fourth this season.

The game can change the game face. The Tigers average bodies alive.

Special teams will be key.

Twice, the player Tommy Townsend pinned the Tigers deep in their territory. The second time, the Townsends left LSU punt, starting from 5.

The third-down sack midfielder Vosean Yusuf, who had a game-high 14 tackles bad punt gave LSU the option of the ball at the Tigers 43. From there, UF led printer Perine, who is 26 tough yards on seven carries. Perine, who rushed a season-high 85 yards and two scores over the nine games with the engine 1-yard touchdown run with 12:30 to the end of the first half.

I was just getting into the rhythm of Perrin said. Once you start in a man self-confidence, that rhythm I feel like the dominant man".

LSU continued to move the ball twice and arrived in UF territory, but managed only three points on a 33-yard by Cole Tracy for a 10-7 lead.

The Franks and the crocodile responded with perhaps the best drive of the season, covering 75 yards in seven plays and 2:01. Frankie's picture-perfect 35-yard hook-up with Josh Hammond on the corner of the road the highlight. The Franks play with a 3-yard touchdown Moral Stephens to give UF's 14-10.

Frankie, though, it opens in the second half with this error which marred last season, but rare in 2018.

Frankie opened the second half with a 49-yard completion in the Hammond, giving the Gators the ball at the Tigers 13 after a personal-foul penalty on LSU. In the next round, Frankie quit quitting in the middle of the end zone in the hands of the LSU's defender Jontre the South Eastern Conference.

LSU kapitaliserede, but it will take some time.

Trailing 14-10, the Tigers and injured crocodiles 80 yards on the subsequent drive after getting just 118 yards the previous two quarters. Brossette 31 and 47 yards before scoring 1 yards

LSU would not hold the 19-14 lead long, Tebow inspired by the Crocs dominated in the last nine minutes and taking a big step towards the establishment of their heritage.

Crocodiles also don't work by yourself.

This is another step for us, defensive back Chauncey Gardner-Johnson said. Not going to dwell on one game.

2. ATTACK

a) LSU Original Writing Sample:

The Tigers have only played one game, but man, Joe Burrow sure looked impressive in LSU's 33-17 route of Miami Sunday night.

The stats don't particularly paint a very good picture ? 11-for-24 for 140 yards ? but the transfer quarterback from Ohio State stepped up when it mattered most and delivered catchable passes to his receivers.

Postgame, Burrow thought the offense as a whole wasn't up to the standard they set for themselves, despite rattling off 27 of the 33 points between the kicker and the run game.

"I thought I played OK," Burrow said. "As an offense, I think we played average."

Burrow's emotions were strong even before the game, being one of many players involved in a pre-game scuffle with the Miami players.

"I saw people scuffling a little bit so I decided to run over there and help them out," Burrow said. "This was the first chance I've had in a long time to lead a football team.

Two dropped passes in the first quarter from receivers Justin Jefferson and Derrick Dillon didn't help with Burrow's start, nor did the lack of protection from the offensive line.

But Burrow showed great touch on a corner pass to wide receiver Ja'Marr Chase, which put LSU down to the one and was punched in by running back Nick Brossette on the next play. Burrow said converting on a throw like that was huge for his confidence.

Burrow was also money at the line of scrimmage with his playcalling. Two times in the first half, Burrow was able to draw Miami offside with a fake play call. On a key fourth and one handoff to Brossette, Burrow seemed to change the play call at the line of scrimmage as a handoff to the left side, which was converted and led to a touchdown.

"When we get fourth and short, we're expecting to go for it so it really wasn't a conversation," Burrow said. "I saw the safety come down on the front side like he was going to blitz off the edge. We couldn't block them all, so I changed the play and the o-line picked it up well, and obviously Nick finished the play."

The 8-for-15 and 101 yards passing doesn't do Burrow's first half performance justice as the confidence and leadership oozed out to the rest of the players.

The run game became the priority in the second half with a 27-3 lead firmly in place, but that didn't keep Burrow from creating plays in a variety of ways.

Burrow's first throw of the second half was a bullet to Jefferson that went for 23 yards followed by a slant route to Dee Anderson, showing he picked up exactly where he left off.

An 11-yard rush on 3rd-and-10 in the early moments of the fourth quarter brought a loud applause on the LSU sideline. The play was a microcosm of what Burrow did the entire game: make winning plays through toughness and effort.

The one knock that can be made on Burrow's performance was that early on, the Tigers had to burn two timeouts because the offense wasn't getting to the line in a timely fashion. Coach Ed Orgeron took the responsibility for that after the game but said it's something that Burrow needs to learn from.

Orgeron said after the game that he was pleased with Burrow's performance and "managing" the gameplan.

"I think he did great," Orgeron said. "Obviously there's a lot of things to fix. I thought he kept his poise, same we saw all camp. We're 1-0, and that's all that counts."

Masked Writing Sample:

The Tigers played only one game, but man Joe Barrow, of course, looks impressive in the way 33-17 LSU on Sunday night in Miami.

Statistics in particular paint a very good picture? 11-24 for 140 yards? But the transfer quarterback from Ohio aktiviziruyutsya when it matters most and deliver the thought passes to the reception.

After the match, Nora thought crime as a whole is not up to the standards they have set for themselves, despite the rattling of 27 out of 33 points between the kicker and run the game.

I thought I played well, said Barrow. Offense, I think we spend, on average".

Burroughs sentiment was strong even before the game was one of the many players involved in the pre-match brawl with players from Miami.

I've seen people fuss a little bit, so I decided to go back there to help them, Barrow. It was the first chance I've had in a long time to lead the football team.

Two dropped passes in the first quarter of the independence of the Justin Jefferson Derek Dillon doesn't help with the hole beginning nor the lack of protection from the offensive line.

But Nora showed a great touch on the corner pass to wide receiver JaMarr Chase that put LSU down one and hit running back Nick Brossette on the next game. Said Hole move to throw, as it was huge to get the confidence.

Barrow also money on the suitable plan with the playcalling. Twice in the first half, Nora managed to draw Miami shed with the fake gameplay. On a key fourth and one transfer in Brossette, the hole appeared to change the play call at the line of scrimmage, as the carriage on the left side, which was addressed and led to a touchdown.

When we get to the fourth short, waiting to go on it, so it's not really a conversation, said Barrow. I saw the safety come down on his face, as if he was going to blitz from the edge. We can't prevent them all, so I changed to play in the attack, raising her so well, obviously, Nick finished playing.

In 8-for-15, 101 yards passes not to make a hole in the first half of Justice, confidence and leadership leak to the rest of the players.

The run game has become a priority in the second half with a 27-3 lead firmly in place, but not to keep the hole from creating plays in a variety of ways.

Hell the first throw of the second half of the bullet to Jefferson, who went 23 yards followed in an inclined path with Dee Anderson, the show that picked up exactly where it stopped.

11-yard rush 3-10 in the first minute of the fourth quarter brought loud applause in the stands LSU. The play was a microcosm of what the hole so the whole game: make winning plays through the skin. One knock that can be made on the performance of the burrows in which the Tigers to burn two timeouts because the offense is not on the line in a timely manner. Coach Ed Orgeron took responsibility after the game but said it's something that Nora needs to learn. Orgeron said after the game that he was satisfied with the way his hole and "control" tactics. I think so, said Orgeron. It is clear that there are many things to fix. I thought he maintained his composure, we saw the whole camp. It was 1-0, and that's all that matters.

b) Texas A & M Original Writing Sample:

ARLINGTON -- Texas A&M (3-2, 1-1 SEC) came up with another game-sealing interception against Arkansas to claim its seventh-straight win over the Razorbacks with a 24-17 win Saturday afternoon at AT&T Stadium. Although the Aggies never trailed, it was the Aggie defense that came to the rescue.

Trailing by a touchdown with less than two minutes to go, Arkansas needed to find the end zone. The Razorbacks began to rip down the field until the momentum was halted. Quarterback Ty Storey lofted a pass down the sideline and it was intercepted by A&M senior safety Donovan Wilson with 1:11 to go, sealing the win for A&M. Arkansas, who has been turnover prone this season, played a clean game until the final minute when they needed to be perfect the most.

However, the Aggie defense played a pivotal part in the win beyond that final turnover. A&M kept the Hogs at arms length the entire game, holding them to just 248 total yards of offense.

2. RB Trayveon Williams finds rushing success

Although A&M running back Trayveon Williams came into Saturday's game with 430 rushing yards, only 62 came against the Aggies' two Power 5 opponents this season.

Williams proved his true worth against Arkansas, however, dashing for 152 yards on 29 carries and found the end zone twice. Williams found explosion, too, accounting for six carries of 10-plus yards.

Most of his carries were directed to the outside with a lead blocker, but the 5-foot-9 tailback punched a couple of short-yardage carries for first downs and had a 1-yard touchdown run in the first quarter.

While Williams was not overwhelming, he did a solid job creating rushing success for the A&M offense, an element that had been stymied by Clemson and Alabama.

3. 'Krispy Kellen' not so sharp

A&M quarterback Kellen Mond has played quite well through the first four games of the season, highlighted by gritty performances against Clemson and Alabama. Against Arkansas though, Mond did not show that same moxy and had a rather frustrating game.

Mond went 17-of-26 passing for just 201 yards. It was the first time in five starts that Mond did not throw a touchdown pass.

It was also his second-straight game with multiple interceptions, both of which were caught by Arkansas linebacker Dre Greenlaw. He threw behind tight end Jace Sternberger on the first and under threw a fade on the second.

On the ground, he was held in check, rushing for only 14 yards on 11 carries. He took three sacks, and his longest run of the game was only 12 yards.

Mond did what was needed to win the game, but Saturday was definitely not his finest outing.

4. Pass rush generates exceptional pressure

One thing missing from A&M's defense had been a steady pass rush. The Aggies sure did dial up the heat against Arkansas though.

For the game, A&M doubled its season sack total after taking down Razorback quarterback Ty Storey five times. Defensive ends Landis Durham and Kingsley Keke led the charge, each posting 1.5 sacks.

Furthermore, the Aggies tallied nine tackles for loss and generated a pair of quarterback hurries. Defensive tackle Daylon Mack was a standout, posting two tackles for loss and a sack.

Additionally, A&M held Arkansas' ground game in check. The Razorbacks ran the ball 26 times for just 55 yards.

The Aggies needed a big game from their front seven and got just that.

5. Aggies miss key chances at end of first half

A&M controlled the game throughout the entire first half, but blunders on the Aggies' last two drives kept them from creating a significant lead.

With A&M driving well into Arkansas territory, tight end Jace Sternberger was called for an obvious holding call that eventually set the Aggies back into a 3rd-&-13 situation. The Razorbacks revved up the heat, and Kellen Mond threw an ill-advised interception at the Arkansas 18.

On A&M's final drive of the half, the Aggies worked a two-minute drill down to the Razorback 19 with five seconds left. However, freshman Seth Small pushed his first career missed field goal wide left, and the Aggies held just a 17-7 lead at the break.

The Aggies had great chances to build as much as a 20-point lead heading into halftime, but a small 10-point margin allowed Arkansas to stay in the game during the second half.

Masked Writing Sample:

Arlington-the Texas a&m (3-2, 1-1 SEC) came up with another game-sealing interception against Arkansas to claim seventh consecutive win over the Razorbacks with a 24-17 victory on Saturday afternoon in the stadium AT&T.

Although the Aggies did not create was the Aggie defense that came to the rescue.

Goal lead with less than two minutes to go, Arkansas you need to find the end. Razorbacks started in the field as long as the momentum stopped. Defender-floor loft in a statement on the sidelines was intercepted by a&m senior safety Donovan Wilson with 1:11 to go, sealing the victory at a&M.

Arkansas, which has been turnover prone this season, game clean game until the last minute when they had to be perfect.

However, the Aggie defense played a key role in the win in this final rotation. A&m kept the pigs at arm's length the entire game, holding them to just 248 total yards of crime.

2. RB Trayveon Williams register to see the stars

Although a&m running back Trayveon Williams came into Saturday's game with 430 shopping yards, only 62 came against the Aggies in two Power 5 opponents this season.

Williams has proven her true worth against Arkansas, however, dashing 152 yards in 29 carries twice the area. Williams found the blast also had six carries of 10 yards.

Most of the jobs sent with a manual blocker, but the 5-foot-9 forward shot a few short yardage first downs 1-yard touchdown run in the first quarter.

While Williams wasn't overwhelming, I did some hard work, creating a rushing stars the a&m offense, the element that prevents Clemson and Alabama.

3. 'Crispy killin' not very sharp

A&M quarterback Kellen Mond has played well in the first four games of the season, said Sandy performances against Clemson and Alabama. Against Arkansas, though, Mond does not show the same Moxy and was very frustrating.

Mondo went 17-26 passes only 201 meters. It was the first time in five starts Mond did not throw a touchdown.

It was also the second consecutive game with multiple interceptions that were caught by Arkansas linebacker Dre, grinlow. He threw behind tight end Jesse in the first and throw the Fade for a second.

On the ground, held in check, rushing just 14 yards on 11 carries. He took three bags, the longest in the game is just at a distance of 12 yards.

Mundo do whatever is necessary to win in the game, but on Saturday was certainly not the best output.

4. Pass rush creates exceptional pressure

One thing missing from the defense&m was a steady pass rush. In his] just ask defense against Arkansas, though.

A&m doubled the bag season after the removal of the pig you're a player of the middle floors of the five times.

Defensive end Landis Durham, Kingsley Kiki led the attack, each posted 1.5 sacks.

In addition, the Aggies tallied nine suffer the loss of a son a few schools in a hurry. Payment and processing additional types of files may Mac was concerned, published two treated for losses and a sack.

In addition, V&M conducted a ground game of Arkansas in check. Razorbacks ran the ball 26 times for 55 yards.

In his] in need of a great game seven and got just.

5. His] to miss the main points at the end of the first half

A&m controlled the game throughout the first half, but his] mistake in the last two drives, keep them to create a great advantage.

S&M have a good control on the territory of Arkansas, tight end Jesse should have been called a clear holding call in the end to appoint his] back in the 3-&-13 the situation. Razorbacks Homs warmly, Kellen Mond threw a reckless interception in the Arkansas 18.

In the final&m drive of the half, the Aggies worked for two minutes down the chopper 19 for five seconds. However, the little I paid for the first goal of his career, is a wide field, the Aggies held just a 17-7 lead at halftime.

In his] was a great opportunity to build as much as a 20-point lead heading to the break, but a small 10 points allowed to Arkansas to stay in the game in the second half.

c) Vanderbilt Original Writing Sample:

Ugly But Effective: UF Offense Preview

Florida, the #14 team in the country is 5-1 after an upset of #5 LSU last week. Their only loss is to a resurgent (and probably #2 in the SEC East Kentucky). It is an unexpected start to the season under new head coach, Cousin Eddie Dan Mullen.

However, the success is in spite of a middle of the road offense. Mullen maximizes the tools in the toolbox and coaches them up to be in a position to compete. Against ranked opponents, UF has averaged 22 points. Against conference opponents, it's a touchdown higher at 29 points (thanks a lot Tennessee!).

I have reams of writing on how much I hate the slimy Gators (I am an FSU grad after all). But that will have to wait. Let's let the numbers do the talking for how average this offense is.

UF is 43 in the S&P+ offense ranking. They are ranked 86 in Total offense with 6.2 yards per play and 380 yards per game and only 11 offensive touchdowns. That's not good. But Mullen has schemed them to be successful in game situations knowing they cannot score in bunches against talented defenses.

For examples, against LSU, Mullen admitted to becoming more conservative in the 3Q in their own territory. UF was up only one, 14-13, and he knew Feleipe Franks is not a reliable passer so he could not risk losing field position.

Against LSU, UF was also very successful in the Red Zone. Their play calling had a 67% success rate. That means on first down, they reached 50% of the yards to gain; 70% on second down; 100% on third and fourth downs. They rely heavily on the run. 208 carries vs 159 passing attempts. Franks is not a good passer completing 55% of his passes, so they don't look to throw in the early downs. They have two back who split the carries, Jordan Scarlett and Lamical Perine.

Scarlett has 54 carries for 268 yards, averaging 5 ypc. He averages a respectable 4.5 ypc against conference teams but it drops to 3.6 against ranked teams. He doesn't run away from opponents, but he does make the hard runs and can get chunk yardages of 11-19 yards at a time. Almost all of his runs have come on first and second down, 23 and 21 carries respectively.

Perine, a 5'11" 218lbs Junior, has 46 carries for 255 and 5.5 ypc. Unlike Scarlett, his ypc are consistent against ranked and conference teams at just over 5 ypc each. 21 of his carries have come on first down.

Franks is a good runner, especially in designed runs. Against LSU, Mullen added the speed option as a wrinkle to keep the defensive pass rush honest. Franks is 6'5" 227 lbs, so he is a big guy and can be difficult for defenders to bring down in the open field. Rushing stats can be difficult because sacks are counted against total rushing, but Franks has long runs of 21, 17, 11 yards, meaning he is effective with his legs.

UF has five WRs with at least one touchdown, but only two of them have over 200 yards. The ball is distributed around. Freddie Swain has 10 receptions for 214 yards, and Van Jefferson has 16 receptions for 200 yards. No receiver has a 100 yards game. No receiver is targeted all that much over the other.

The UF offense can be difficult to watch and frustrating, if you are a fan. But Mullen has found an effective way to win games by keeping the ball on the ground, picking spots through the air, and eliminating turnovers (4 INTs, no fumbles lost).

Masked Writing Sample:

Ugly but effective: the UF offense preview

Florida, team #14 in the country after the 5-1 upset #5 last week lying. Only the loss of the restoration (and maybe #2 in the SEC Eastern Kentucky). This is an unexpected start to the season under new coach, the cousin of Eddie, Dan Mullen.

However, the stars in the middle of the road offense. Sire maximum instruments and coaches them to be able to compete. Against rivals grade UV 22 points. Against opponents of the conference, its landing is higher by 29 points (Thank You, Tennessee!).

I have a bunch to write about how much I hate the slimy crocodile (I am a specialist from the former Soviet Union after all).

But you will have to wait. Let the numbers speak for over the average for this crime.

Ultrafiltration 43 in S&P+ offense ranking. They are ranked 86th in total offense with 6.2 yards per game and 380 yards per game to just 11 offensive landing. It is not good. But Mullen had intrigued him to be successful in game situations, knowing that they can score in bunches from the talented defense.

For example, against LSU, Mullen acknowledged have become more conservative in 3Q on its territory. UV was the only one, 14-13, and he knew that Feleipe Franks is not a good passer, so he could not risk losing their jobs.

Against LSU, UF is also very successful in the red zone. Play call success rate of 67%. This means that on the first, consisting of 50% of yards to gain; 70% on second and 100 percent on third and fourth downs.

They rely on the run. 208 Bears against 159 pass attempts. Frankie is not a good passer completed 55% of passes don't even look to throw early in the fall. They have two back of the division protects Jordan Scarlett and Lamical Perine.

Scarlett 54 carries 268 yards, averaging 5 the center. He is averaging a respectable 4.5 YPC against teams in the conference, but it drops to 3.6 against ranked teams. Will not run away from the opponent, but he works hard and can get a piece yards of 11-19 metres. Almost all the roads came in first and second down, 23, and 21 carries, respectively. Quilt 511 218lbs son 46 holds 255 and 5.5 of the centre. Unlike Scarlett, the YPC steady against ranked conference teams just over 5 YPC each. 21 of the carries came on first down.

Frankie is a good runner, especially in developed countries, rapid growth. Against LSU, Mullen added speed option as wrinkles to keep the defensive pass rush honest. Frankie 65 of 227 kg, so it's a big man and can be difficult for defenders to bring down in the open field. Registration statistics can be difficult because the bags are measured just rush, but Frankie was employed for 21, 17, 11 m, i.e. it is effective with his legs.

UF five WRC with at least one goal, but only two of them more than 200 meters. The ball is distributed all around. Freddy only 10 receptions for 214 yards, Van Jefferson 16 receptions for 200 yards. Does the recipient have the game 100 meters. The receiver is not designed to be all of that more than others.

UF's offense may be hard to watch and frustrating if you are a fan. But, my lord, have found an effective way to win the game, keeping the ball on the ground, choosing places by air, eliminate turnovers (4 INTs, No Turns lost).

d) Alabama Original Writing Sample:

No. 1 Alabama will travel to face Arkansas on Saturday, Oct. 6, for an 11 a.m. CT kickoff at Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium in Fayetteville, Ark. The Crimson Tide's Week 6 road game will air on ESPN with Dave Pasch, Greg McElroy and Tom Luginbill on the call. Check out this 2-4-7 preview to get you ready for the sixth game on Alabama's 2018 football schedule.

TWO STORYLINES TO MONITOR

1. Status of Jonah Williams

Alabama junior left tackle Jonah Williams left the Louisiana-Lafayette game in the first quarter with a twisted ankle. Nick Saban said the preseason All-American could have returned to the contest if needed, but Williams was limited during Monday and Tuesday practices of Arkansas week. While he participated in Wednesday's media viewing period, he remains questionable.

"He's going to practice (Wednesday)," Saban said of Williams. "We'll see how it goes after that. We think he'll be able to play in the game, but it's probably a little bit of a question mark right now."

If Williams is unable to go, the Crimson Tide could go a couple of different routes in replacing him at left tackle. In the ULL game, Chris Owens stepped in for the injured three-year starter. In practice this week, Matt Womack was seen taking reps at left tackle -- the opposite side of the line for him after starting all 14 games at right tackle last year. We'll continue to monitor this.

2. Fighting complacency

Alabama is 5-0, its offense looks unstoppable and the next three games before its bye week are not exactly Murderers' Row. Heck, Saban has even asked for bad press in order for him to have something negative to show his players. So, one of the biggest obstacles for the Crimson Tide this week, as well as the rest of the season, will be to avoid complacency after its hot start.

And Saban is looking to UA's team leaders to combat that.

Alabama running back Damien Harris (Photo: John David Mercer, USA TODAY Sports)

"I think it's the most important thing that you can have," he said. "Something coming from your peers may have a much greater impact and effect than something coming from your coach. I think part of leadership is to reinforce the principles and values of the organization in every way, and certainly, whatever the message is week to week, it's important for the leadership to buy into it and try to influence and impact the other players that play around them."

FOUR PLAYERS TO WATCH

1. Tua Tagovailoa

I mean, why not? Tagovailoa's 156.3 NFL passer rating is the highest among all Football Bowl Subdivision quarterbacks with at least 80 attempts and his 97.9 QBR rating is the highest for a quarterback through five games in a season since Russell Wilson (96.4). The sophomore has thrown for 1,161 yards on 66-of-88 passing (75 percent) and 14 touchdowns and will be facing an Arkansas defense that ranks 11th in the SEC in passing defense (247.0 yards per game).

2. Damien Harris

The last two times Alabama has played Arkansas, Harris has rushed for 100-plus yards. After a quiet first five games -- in large part because of Alabama's balance on offense and large leads early in contests -- could we see Harris continue his successful streak against the Hogs? He will enter the road game with 2,444 career rushing yards, which ranks No. 13 on the Tide's career rushing chart. Sherman Williams, who played at UA from 1991-94, is 12th with 2,486 yards.

3. Raekwon Davis

After leading the Crimson Tide in sacks a season ago, Davis has yet to take down a quarterback behind the line of scrimmage. But he is coming off a game where he led Alabama's defensive linemen in tackles (4.0) and was named a Player of the Week by the coaching staff. Plus, like Harris, the last time the Tide and Hogs squared off, Davis had a strong showing. Keep an eye on him to see if he repeat, or better, last year's performance of five tackles and 1.5 sacks.

4. Jaylen Waddle

Waddle only touchdown the football four times against Louisiana-Lafayette but was able to lead all players with 201 all-purpose yards. Of those four touches, the true freshman turned three of them into touchdowns (2 receiving, 1 returning). So, whether it's as a slot receiver or returner of punts, don't blink or you just might miss Waddle and the "magic" he brings with him to the field.

Jaylen Waddle

Alabama wide receiver Jaylen Waddle outruns the UL-Lafayette defense. (Photo: Stuart McNair, 247Sports)

"He's amazing," Trevon Diggs said. "He's a really great talent. I've never seen anything like it, honestly. He reminds me of a kind of Tavon Austin punt returner/receiver. He's really good."

SEVEN NOTES TO KEEP IN MIND

1. Alabama and Arkansas will meet for the 29th time on Saturday. The Crimson Tide leads the all-time series, 18-8 (after vacations and forfeits), and won last year's meeting, 41-9, in Tuscaloosa. Alabama has won the last 11 meetings between the two schools, including a 49-30 win in the Tide's last visit to Fayetteville in 2016. Alabama head coach Nick Saban is 14-2 (13-2 after vacations) in his career against Arkansas, including an 11-0 mark (10-0 after vacations) at Alabama.

Arkansas head coach Chad Morris is in his first season with the Razorbacks and will be facing Alabama for the first time on Saturday.

2. Saban owns a 50-15 (.769) mark in SEC road games across his time at LSU and Alabama, including a 38-7 (.844) mark with the Crimson Tide. Saban has notched seven perfect SEC road seasons (2003, 2008, 2009, 2011, 2012, 2015 and 2016). Alabama defeated Ole Miss, 62-7, on Sept. 15 in its first conference road game this season.

3. Alabama is beginning an October stretch of SEC games versus Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee that, since taking over the football program, Saban boasts a 24-0 record against.

4. Alabama's 608 yards in total offense against Louisiana last Saturday marked the fifth time the Crimson Tide has topped 500 yards this season and the 17th time in the last 49 games dating to the start of the 2015 campaign. This is Alabama's first five-game run of 500-yard total offense performances in program history and was also Alabama's first 600-yard game since rolling up 604 yards against Tennessee in 2017.

And with last Saturday's win over Louisiana, Alabama has scored 45 or more points in five consecutive games for the first time in school history. The 1945 Crimson Tide, who held the previous record, hit the 45-point mark four times.

5. Alabama's scoring differential stands at 41.2 points per game (54.2-13.0) in 2018. A big reason for the margin is the Crimson Tide's performance following a turnover. The Tide has scored 59 points off of 10 opponent giveaways this season, scoring off of nine of the turnovers and intercepting a pass to end the first half against Louisiana-Lafayette on Sept. 29.

Alabama D-lineman Raekwon Davis makes a tackle against ULL. (Photo: Stuart McNair, 247Sports)

Defensively, Alabama has not allowed a point following any of its four miscues. The Tide defense has directly accounted for 21 points on three interception returns, while the offense has posted 38 points on its six post-turnover possessions.

6. The Crimson Tide defense has held its opposition to 13.0 points per game and 317.6 yards per game through five contests this season. But those numbers look more impressive when compared to what the Tide's five opponents have averaged in their other matchups.

Louisville, Arkansas State, Ole Miss, Texas A&M and Louisiana have scored 32.6 points and averaged 446.3 yards per game in their games played before and after their meetings with UA, a difference of 19.6 points and 128.7 total yards per contest.

7. The Alabama defense has proven to be just as dominant as the Crimson Tide offense in the first two quarters of play this season. The Tide defenders have limited the opposition to just 20 points (two touchdowns, two field goals) and 745 yards of offense (149.0 per game) in the first half in 2018. UA has outscored the opposition by 177 points (197-20) and outgained them by 1,046 yards before the break this season.

Masked Writing Sample:

No. 1 Alabama traveling to face Arkansas on Saturday, Oct. 6, 11 a.m. CT start at Donald W. Reynolds Stadium pig in Fayetteville, Arkansas. Crimson Tide Week 6 road game will be televised on ESPN with Dave pasch, Greg McElroy and Tom Luginbill on the call. Check out this 2-4-7 preview to get you ready for the seventh game on the football schedule Alabamas 2018.

The two story lines challenge

1. Put John Williams

Alabama junior left-back John Williams left the game Louisiana-Lafayette in the first quarter with a sprained ankle. Nick Saban said before the start of the season the American was able to return to competition, if necessary, but Williams was limited in Monday and Tuesday of practice week for Arkansas. While he participated in the media environment of the observation period, it is still open to question.

Going to practice (Wednesday) SABB, Williams said. Well, let's see how it goes after that. We believe he'll be able to play the game, but maybe a little bit of a question mark now."

If Williams that "red tide" can go several different ways, to replace him on the left. In this section of the game Chris Owens stepped up in the injury of three years beginning. In fact this week, Matt Womack was seen taking reps at left-back -- the other side of the line for him after starting 14 games for the right to decide last year. As well as continue to watch it.

2. Fighting complacency

Alabama 5-0, the offense looks unstoppable, the next three games before the bye week is not exactly killers. Hell, Saban even asked for the bad press to have something negative to show the players. So one of the biggest obstacles to the Crimson Tide this week and the rest of the season will be to avoid complacency after a hot start.

And Saban wants the UAS team leaders to combat this.

Alabama running back Damien Harris (photo: John David Mercer, USA TODAY Sports)

I think the most important thing can be. Colleagues can have much greater influence and power than to produce something from his coach. I think that part of the tutorial is to promote the principles and values of the organization in all respects, and, of course, whatever the letter of the week-to-week, it's worth driving to buy are trying to influence and affect other players around them.

Four players to watch

1. Tua Tagovailoa

I mean, why not? On Tagovailoa's 156.3 passer rating the NFL is the highest among all football bowl division defenders with at least 80 attempts and qbr rating of 97.9 is a top defender five games in one season with Russell Wilson (96.4). The second throw for 1,161 yards on 66 of 88 (75%) 14 landing you will experience the Arkansas defense, which is ranked 11 in the SEC in pass defense (247.0 yards per game).

2. Damien Harris

The last two times Alabama played Arkansas, Harris rushed for more than 100 yards. After the first five games-largely because of Alabamas balance on offense big leads early in contests ... you can see Harris continue a successful series against the pigs? He will enter the road game with a professional registry 2,444 yards, which ranks No. 13 on the shores of the post registration diagram. Sherman Williams, who played at UA from 1991-94, 12 with 2,486 yards.

3. I Davis

After leading the Crimson Tide in sacks in the season before Davis still takes the player behind the line of scrimmage. But he is coming of a game where the leaders of Alabamas defensive linemen in tackles (4.0) choose the best player of the week by the decision of the coaching staff. In addition to, as Harris, the last high tide and boar square Davis has a strong showing. Keep an eye on it to see if it will repeat, or better, in recent years, the performance of five common 1.5 bags.

4. Jaylen Waddle

Waddle's only touchdown in the football four times against Louisiana-Lafayette, but managed to lead all players with 201 meters. These four taps real student turned three of them in the landing (2 receiving, 1 return). Whether as a slot receiver or return boats don't blink or you just might miss Waddle and magic bring to the field.

Jaylen Waddle

Alabama wide receiver Jaylen Waddle by the ul-Lafayette defense. (Photo: Stuart McNair, 247Sports)

It's amazing, Trevon Taylor. It's really a great talent. I've never seen anything like it honestly. Reminds me of the type of Tavon Austin's punt returner/receiver. It is really good.

Seven notes to keep in mind

1. Alabama and Arkansas will meet 29 times on Saturday. The Crimson Tide leads the all series, 18-8 (after the vacations and forfeits) and won last years meeting, 41-9 in Tuscaloosa. Alabama has won in the last 11 meetings between the schools, including a 49-30 win in the tide's last visit to Fayetteville in 2016. Coach Nick Saban Alabama 14-2 (13-2 after the holidays) in his career against Arkansas, including a mark of 11-0 (10 - 0 after the vacation) in the state of Alabama.

Coach Chad Morris Arkansas in his first season with the Razorbacks and will face Alabama for the first time on Saturday.

2. SABB owns a 50-15 (.769) mark in road games second during his time in LSU and Alabama, including a 38-7 (.844) mark with the Crimson Tide. SAP has achieved seven perfect again, the way seasons (2003, 2008, 2009, 2011, 2012, 2015 and 2016). Alabama defeated the University of Mississippi, 62-7, in September. 15 in the first conference game this season.

3. At the beginning of October on the website of the SEC game against Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee since joining the football program SAP boating record of 24-0 against.

4. Alabamas 608 yards in total offense against Louisiana last Saturday I noticed for the fifth time, "Crimson Tide" peaked for the season 500 yards 17 times in the last 49 matches dating from the beginning of the campaign in 2015. Is Alabamas first five-game run of 500 yards of total offense performances in the history of the program, as Alabamas first 600-yard game after rolling up 604 yards against Tennessee in 2017.

And with last Saturday's victory over the Louisiana, Alabama scored 45 points or more in five consecutive games for the first time in the history of the school. 1945 the Crimson Tide, which held the previous record, hit 45 points four times.

5. Alabamas differential is scoring 41.2 points per game (54.2-13.0) in 2018. A big reason for margin is the Crimson

Tide's performance after turnover. The Wave scored 59 points out of the 10 prizes than the opponent this season and scored nine turnovers, intercepting a pass at the end of the first half against Louisiana-Lafayette in September. 29. Alabama D-lineman I Davis makes the processing of the most important. (Photo: Stuart McNair, 247Sports)

Defensively, Alabama didn't allow a point after any of the four faults. Make payment directly to 21 points on three interception returns, while crime has posted 38 points in six after a turnover of their property.

6. The Crimson Tide defense against 13.0 points per game and 317.6 yards per game through five contests this season. But these figures look more impressive in comparison with the tide five opponents on average in the other games. Louisville, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas A&M Louisiana scored 32.6 points average of 446.3 yards per game in the games before and after the meeting with the UA, a difference of 19.6 points 128.7 total yards in the contest.

7. The Alabama defense was dominant as the Crimson Tide offense during the first two quarters of play this season. Rush defence limited the opposition to just 20 points (two goals, two field goals) and 745 yards of offense (149.0 per game) in the first half of 2018. UA has already surpassed the opposition 177 points (197-20) outgained them to 1,046 yards before the break this season.

e) Mississippi State Original Writing Sample:

There was so much attention being paid to Mississippi State quarterback Nick Fitzgerald's return to the field Saturday that nobody paid much to running back Kylin Hill.

Certainly not the Kansas State defense. Not even himself, really.

After Hill ran for 211 yards and accounted for three scores, and after the No. 18 Bulldogs' swarming defense shut down the Wildcats in a 31-10 rout, the sophomore running back acknowledged he wasn't even sure how many yards he'd piled up during the game.

"I honestly don't know," Hill insisted. "Having Fitz back there helped because they were already watching him, so that opened up holes for me. He's a great overall player -- NFL-caliber."

Yes, the senior quarterback had his share of highlights, too. He threw for 154 yards and two touchdowns, ran for another 159 yards, and paced an offense that piled up 538 yards total in giving the Bulldogs (2-0) their first Power Five road win since beating Baylor in September 1995.

Not bad considering it was also Fitzgerald's first game since last November. He missed their bowl game after a serious foot injury against Ole Miss, and then was suspended for last week's season opener.

"It's always good to go out there and finally get to reap the rewards of all the hard work that you've put in with your teammates," he said. "It was amazing to get out there."

Pretty amazing watching his running back work, too.

"He works his butt off every day," Fitzgerald said. "You knew he was going to have a big day. I never once thought he was going to get tackled behind the line of scrimmage, I think it happened once?"

Hill and Fitzgerald helped the Bulldogs to a 17-3 lead over the Wildcats (1-1), despite a sloppy, penalty-filled first half. But it was a 95-yard march in the third quarter that put the game away, when Hill ripped off a 52-yard run and Fitzgerald capped it with a touchdown toss.

Meanwhile, the Wildcats' two-quarterback system of Skylar Thompson and Alex Delton struggled to get going. Thompson was 7 of 17 for 86 yards and a touchdown while running for 34 yards, and Delton was 2 of 4 for 14 yards with an interception that led to the Bulldogs' TD late in the first half.

"Just disappointing," Delton said. "We're not where we should be when you look at our talent. We've scored what, two touchdowns in two games? That's pitiful."

The bright spot for Kansas State was bruising running back Alex Barnes, who finished with 75 yards rushing. But even he was held in check by a Mississippi State defense, led by tackle Jeffrey Simmons and end Montez Sweat, that had 17 tackles for loss in its opener.

In truth, they had their way with the Wildcats' veteran offensive line, which coughed up four sacks and managed only 213 yards total offense. Kansas State's only touchdown came in the third quarter, when Fitzgerald threw an interception that set up a short field.

"I wouldn't take anything away from Mississippi State," Wildcats coach Bill Snyder said, "but as I've said so many times it's not about who you line up against. It's about us. We just haven't played as well as we're capable of playing."

THE TAKEAWAY

Mississippi State: Fitzgerald and Hill made life miserable for the Wildcats' with the read-option, essentially beating Kansas State at its own game. Fitzgerald was just 11 of 27 passing, though, which could be a byproduct of his rust. "He was a little amped up," Mississippi State coach Joe Moorhead said. "He made some good throws. He did some great things by improvisation."

Kansas State: Despite returning all five starters on the offensive line, Kansas State struggled up front against the Bulldogs. Thompson and Delton were under constant duress, and Barnes often had to avoid first contact in the backfield. It made for a stagnant offense all afternoon.

TOSSED FOR TARGETING

Bulldogs safety Johnathan Abram was ejected after getting called for targeting early in the fourth quarter. Abram launched himself into a helmet-to-helmet blow on kick returner Duke Shelley.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

The Bulldogs haven't done anything to hurt their poll positioning, aching their biggest test until they face Florida on Sept. 29. They have Louisiana and a trip to Kentucky the next two weeks.

UP NEXT

Mississippi State: Louisiana heads to Starkville to face the Bulldogs next Saturday night.

Kansas State: Texas-San Antonio visits Manhattan for the Wildcats' final nonconference game.

Masked Writing Sample:

There was a lot of focus on the return of Mississippi quarterback Nick Fitzgerald at the stadium on Saturday that no one was paying to run Kylin Hill.

Of course not, the Kansas State defense. Not even the same really.

After Hill ran for 211 yards and totaled three points after the No. 18 Bulldogs swarming defense shut down the Panthers in a 31-10 defeat, freshman running back admitted that he was not sure how many meters was accumulated during the game.

"I honestly don't know," Hill insisted. "Having Fitz there to help because they were already watching him, so I opened the hole. He's a great player NFL caliber."

Yes, senior quarterback had his share of moments too. He threw for 154 yards and a brace ran for another 159 yards, and paced an offense that accumulated a total of 538 yards in to give the Bulldogs (2-0) first five road win after defeating Baylor in September 1995.

Not bad for it was also the first game Fitzgerald in November of last year. Missed the bowl game after a serious injury in his leg against Ole Miss, then was suspended the last week of the tournament.

"It's always good to get back finally to reap the rewards of all the hard work you put with your teammates," he said. "It was amazing to get there."

It is interesting to watch him run back to work.

"It is hard work every day," said Fitzgerald. "Did you know that it will be a great day. I never thought that he was going to fight behind the line of scrimmage, I think it happened once?"

Hill Fitzgerald helped the Bulldogs 17-3 on the Panthers (1-1), despite the sloppy, penalty-filled first half. But it was the 95-yard march in the third quarter that put the game away when Hill ripped off a 52 yard run Fitzgerald limited to the landing to throw.

At the same time, they are the defender of the system of "Tiger" Skylar Thompson Alex Delton is difficult to go. Thompson was 7 of 17 for 86 yards and a touchdown while running for 34 yards, Dalton 24 14 square with the recognition that led to the bite and at the end of the first half.

"A shame," said Delton. "We're not where we need to be, when you look at our talent. He scored two goals in two games? It is a sad spectacle."

A bright spot in Kansas bruising back Alex Barnes, who finished with a 75 Square shopping. But even he kept a tight rein on the Mississippi State defense to take the lead Jeffrey Simon the end Montez Sweat, who was 17 suffering for the loss in the opener.

The truth is that they have their way with a veteran offensive line the Panthers, who coughed up four bags managed just 213 yards of total offense. The only touchdown Kansas State came in the third quarter when Fitzgerald threw the mind who created the short field.

"I'm not going to take anything away from Mississippi State," Guapirama coach Bill Snyder says, "but as I've said many times, it's not about who you are. Come to us. We just didn't play like we're capable of playing."

It

Mississippi: Fitzgerald and Hill have made life miserable for the Panthers with the read-option, in fact, to beat Kansas State at their own game. Fitzgerald was only 11 of 27 passing, although this may be a byproduct of corrosion. "It was a little on edge," Mississippi State coach Joe Moorhead. "Some of the throws. I've done some great things improvise".

Kansas State: despite the return of all five starters on the offensive line, the Kansas State struggled to the front against the bite. Thompson Dalton was under constant pressure, Barnes often to avoid the first contact to the back. Made stagnant offense today.

Fling targeting

Bite safety Jonathan Abram was after the expulsion of The allows for targeting early in the fourth quarter. Abraham launched himself into the helmet-helmet hit, a hit of the return of the Duke Chile.

The effects of survey

The Bulldog does not harm the positions of the survey passed a big test until they face Florida in September. 29. They are Louisiana and Kentucky visit in the next two weeks.

It

Mississippi: in Louisiana the heads of mississippi state university to face the Bulldogs next Saturday.

The state of Kansas: Texas-San Antonio visits Manhattan final risky' nonconference games.

f) Tennessee Original Writing Sample:

One Reason Why Tennessee Will Win

What happened to the Auburn running game?

From 2013 through the first three games of this season – a span of 70 games – the Tigers ran for fewer than 100 yards in just four games, losing all four.

Auburn has failed to hit the 100-yard rushing mark in each of its last three games, but it managed to win twice.

The Tennessee defensive front hasn't been a rock – struggling over the last two games against Florida and Georgia – but Auburn's offensive line is having an even tougher time.

Auburn isn't controlling the clock, the offense isn't making the most of its chances, and there's been a big problem with fumbles and penalties.

The Vols need all of the help they can get.

There have been a whole slew of issues, but they're not hurting themselves with penalties, and they're not having that many problems with turnovers. But ...

One Reason Why Auburn Will Win

The Tennessee offensive line is struggling.

The Vols are allowing way too many plays behind the line – it's easy to get into the backfield on a regular basis, especially on third downs – and it's showing for an offense that's having problems getting anything going.

For all of Auburn's issues, the defense is doing its part at generating pressure and keeping the team in games. It's only giving up an average of 14 points per game, mainly because it's getting off the field.

Auburn has allowed teams to convert 40% of their third down chances or more in two games – the losses to LSU and Mississippi State. Teams have been under the 40% mark in the four Tiger wins.

Tennessee is converting just 36% of its third down tries.

What's Going To Happen

With two weeks off to recharge the batteries, the Auburn offense will come up with a few good early scoring drives, and then the defense will take care of the rest.

The Tigers won't come up with a giant offensive performance, but it'll get ahead and stay there. The Tennessee offense won't keep the Auburn defensive front out of the backfield – the pressure will come in waves.

Masked Writing Sample:

One of the reasons why Tennessee win

What happened to the Auburn running game?

With 2013 in the first three games this season, a span of 70 games the Tigers ran less than 100 yards in four games, losing all four.

Auburn didn't reach the 100 yard mark registration in each of the last three games, but managed to win twice.

The defensive front of the Tennessee was not the Rock fighting for the last two games against Florida and Georgia, but Auburns offensive line is having more difficult times.

Auburn-the-clock surveillance, the crime does not make your chances, and there was a big problem with speaking and penalties.

TT. Need all the help you can get.

There are a lot of questions, but they are not hurting themselves with penalties, they are not having many problems with turnovers. But

One of the reasons why Auburn win

Offensive line Tennessee's struggling.

TT. Allow many plays behind the line it is easy to get back on a regular basis, especially in third downs and shows of crime, then there is a problem in getting something.

For any questions Auburns. Protection is doing its job, creating pressure and kept the team in the game. An average of only 14 points per game, mainly because it is obtained from the field.

Auburn allowed teams to convert 40 percent of third down opportunities or more in two games losses to LSU and Mississippi State. The difference under the 40 percent mark in four Tiger wins.

Tennessee is converting only 36% of third down attempts.

What happens

With two weeks of re-charging the batteries, the Auburn offense will come up with some good early scoring drives, then the defense will take care of the rest.

The Tigers don't come with a huge offensive performance, but go ahead and stay there. Crime tn the habit of keeping Auburn defensive front of the defenders of the pressure will come in waves.

g) Auburn Original Writing Sample:

Let's dive right into a horrible night for the Auburn offense, and season-best nights for the defense and special teams in a 34-3 victory against Arkansas.

Offense: D

It's time to tweak the offense. Auburn's offensive line has not gotten better as the season has progressed, and a new problem popped up Saturday night against Arkansas: pass protection.

If there was one strength for Auburn's offensive line this season it was protecting the passer and giving Jarrett Stidham just enough time to move in the pocket and make a throw. That wasn't the case for most of the night against the Hogs, whose average defensive line made the Tigers look below average in the trenches.

This much is clear a third of the way through the season: the offense line is what it is and it might be time to adjust. Auburn's strength is not running the ball between the tackles. In fact, that has been a weakness more often than not. Perhaps it's time to implement more quick slants, screens and also attack the perimeter.

As for the game against Arkansas, it was a complete mess on offense. The Tigers managed only 225 yards, the seventh-worst performance of Gus Malzahn's career. And to do that against a less-than-pedestrian Arkansas team is downright concerning.

Auburn started one possession at the 2-yard line and managed only one yard. The newly-redefined Malzahn, who promised to be aggressive this season, instead kicked a field goal from the 1-yard line.

Later, facing fourth-and-1 inside the 10, the Tigers called timeout to avoid a delay of game, kept the offense on the field, lined up in the Shotgun and, unsurprisingly, lost yardage on a running play to turn it over on downs.

The Tigers' longest scoring drive through three quarters? Twenty-seven yards. The Tigers managed only 91 yards rushing.

Consider this, too: Auburn's averaging field position started at Arkansas' 49-yard line because of great special teams and defensive play. The offense managed only 17 points with that field position, and if not for special teams, this game could have been a low-scoring affair heading into the fourth quarter.

Auburn has a lot to figure out on offense, and the thinking here is it's time to change the approach on offense and play to their strengths: namely more quick passes and less running between the tackles.

Defense: A+

Auburn's defense struggled on third-and-long early in the game, giving up three big plays third downs for first downs, but quickly recovered as the Razorbacks went 0 for 7 in the second half.

Eight of Arkansas' 15 drives covered a combined 20 yards, which included six three-and-outs. Javaris Davis returned an interception 80 yards for a touchdown, but it was called back on a block-in-the-back penalty on Dontavius Russell (it was the right call, by the way) but it was an incredible return -- one of the best in recent memory on the Plains.

Meanwhile, Daniel Thomas returned a fumble 40 yards to the 2-yard line and nearly scored.

Arkansas' offense will not be confused with one of the best in the SEC by the end of the season, but the Tigers' defense made them look downright awful.

Auburn had a nice nine quarterback hurries and Marlon Davidson was dangerously close to a multiple-sack game. He was credited with four quarterback hurries. It just seems like Davidson is about due for a huge game off the edge at defensive end. He nearly had it Saturday night.

Oh, and how about that pass defense? No pass interference calls this week after six in the previous two FBS games.

Special teams: A+

This was the best game by Auburn's special teams in the Gus Malzahn era (minus the two missed field goals by Anders Carlson).

Special teams led directly to 24 points for the Tigers, including Noah Igbingohene's electric 96-yard kickoff return when he simply hit a seam and outran everyone on the field, including his teammates.

"Simple as that," he smiled after the game.

Ryan Davis nearly returned two punts for touchdowns, finishing with 84 yards on returns. Oh, and Jordyn Peters blocked a punt, partially blocked another and simply was ahead of schedule on what should have been a blocked punt earlier in the game. He was all over the field on special teams and defense Saturday night, and had the game of his life. Punter Arryn Siposs continues to improve. He averaged 47.2 yards on five punts, including a long of 60 yards, and also pinned Arkansas inside the 20-yard line twice. Auburn's net punting was among the worst in the country last season.

This season the Tiger rank eighth nationally. That's a heck of a turnaround.

Masked Writing Sample:

Let's dive right into the terrible night of the murder Auburn, and a season-best night on defense and special teams in the 34-3 victory against Arkansas.

Offense: D

It's time to change the offense. The offensive line of the Red did not move with the progress of the season, a new problem appeared on Saturday night against Arkansas: pass protection.

If there is one strength in the offensive line of Auburn of the season he was defending the passer, giving Jarrett Stidham enough time to move in the pocket and make a throw. This is not the case for most of the night against the pigs, which average defense, the Tigers are looking lower than expected in the trenches.

This is the concept of two thirds of the way through this season: a crime, it may be time to move. The strength of Auburn not running the ball between the tackles. In fact, it was the weak point more often than not. Maybe it's time to implement the more rapid slopes, screens and attacking the perimeter.

As for the game against Arkansas, was a complete mess on offense. The Tigers managed only 225 yards the sixth-worst record in the career of Gus Malzahn. And to do this for less than the team Arkansas relatively.

Auburn started one ball at the 2-yard line managed only one yard. Recently reviewed the note which promise to be aggressive this season, and didn't kick a field goal from the 1-yard line.

After duty IV-1 inside the 10, the Tigers called a timeout to avoid a delay in the game, and kept the attack on the field, lined up in the gun, it is not surprising that the loss of yardage on the running game to deliver on the landing.

The Tigers longest scoring drive three blocks? Twenty-seven yards. The Tigers managed just 91 yards of registration. Also consider this: the average location field Auburn began in Arkansas' 49-yard line, special teams and defensive play. The crime managed only 17 points with this field position, if not special teams, this game could be a low-scoring affair heading into the fourth quarter.

Auburn has to know a lot in the attack, and I thought now it's time to change the approach in the attack and play to their strengths, such as: more passes and less between the tackles.

Defense: A+

Auburn's defense struggled on third-and-long in the beginning of the game, get rid of three big plays-third downs for first downs, but he quickly recovered, the Razorbacks went 0 for 7 in the second half.

Eight of the 15 engines of Arkansas covered a total of 20 yards that included six three. Javaris Davis returned the interception 80 yards to the goal but was called for a block in the back penalty on Dontavious Russell (he was), but it was an incredible comeback-one of the best for the last time in the plains. At the same time, Daniel Thomas returned to touch the 40 meter 2-yard line almost scored.

Crime Arkansas not to be confused with one of the best in the second to the end of the season, but the Tigers defense made them look frankly awful.

Auburn was a good nine schools in a hurry, Marlon Davidson was dangerously close multi-sack game. He was credited with four schools in a hurry. It seems that Davidson game, a huge edge on the defensive end. It didn't very nearly Saturday night.

And what about that pass defense? No pass interference calls this week after six in the previous two games to FBS.

Special commands:+

It was the best game on special teams Auburn in the era of Gus Malzahn (minus the two goals adopted me Anders Carlson).

Special teams led directly to 24 points for the Tigers, including electric NOI Igbingohene in a 96-yard start return, when he was in the physical and swimming, everyone in this area, including the aides.

"Just like that" he smiled after the game.

Ryan Davis back almost two boats on the landing, finishing with 84 yards on returns. Oh, jordyn Peters helm partially blocked another and it was before what should be blocked punt earlier in the game. He was all over the field on special teams and defense Saturday night was the game of his life.

Graves Arryn Siposs is constantly improving. He averaged 47.2 yards on five boats, including a length of 60 meters, and also Arkansas inside the 20-yard line twice. Clean swimming Auburn was among the worst in the country last season. This season Tiger ranks third on the national level. It's hell without him.

h) Ole Miss Original Writing Sample:

OXFORD, Miss. -- Top-ranked Alabama faced a rare bit of adversity Saturday night when Mississippi's first offensive play turned into a 75-yard touchdown pass from Jordan Ta'amuto to D.K. Metcalf.

The angst lasted a grand total of 11 seconds.

Alabama wasn't going to let one play shake its confidence.

Unleashing a relentless onslaught from that point forward, No. 1 Alabama buried Ole Miss 62-7 in a Southeastern Conference opener that quickly turned into a blowout.

"We don't dwell on plays like that," Alabama defensive back Xavier McKinney said. "When that (touchdown) happened, we weren't down about it. We just kept going, kept playing and I feel like we did a great job."

Tua Tagovailoa threw for 191 yards and two touchdowns, Jerry Jeudy caught two scoring passes and the Tide's offense rolled up 49 points before halftime. Alabama (3-0) had 516 total yards and was so effective that Tagovailoa's evening was over by midway through the second quarter.

The left-handed sophomore completed 11 of 15 passes during his short time on the field. The Tide then turned to Jalen Hurts, who completed 7 of 10 passes for 85 yards, two touchdowns and one interception.

It was so lopsided that third-string quarterback Mac Jones was in the game before the end of the third quarter. Alabama coach Nick Saban -- not known as one who gives out compliments easily -- had no complaints about how his team handled its first road game in a hostile environment.

"I'm going to have to give us a good grade in all those areas," Saban said. "I was pleased."

Ole Miss (2-1) suffered through a second straight blowout loss to the Crimson Tide. The Rebels fell 66-3 last year in Tuscaloosa.

Jordan Ta'amu completed just 7 of 22 passes for 133 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions.

"We were able to make some plays, but it's hard because they mess up your timing," Ta'amu said. "I had to throw quicker or tucked it to run and that's not on our receivers. They also did a good job of batting balls that I thought would have been plays for us."

The game was in doubt for about 11 seconds. That's the time it took for Ta'amu to find Metcalf for a 75-yard touchdown that sent Vaught-Hemingway Stadium into a frenzy.

The euphoria was short-lived. Alabama wasn't fazed.

The Tide scored seven touchdowns by halftime, doing whatever it wanted against the Ole Miss defense. There were plenty of clues the Rebels would struggle to slow down the Tide -- including giving up 629 total yards to Southern Illinois last week -- but the onslaught was still stunning.

"We knew we'd have to capitalize off turnovers and execute to make it a four quarter game," Ole Miss coach Matt Luke said. "We didn't do that. We had chances early."

THE TAKEAWAY

Very few people expected Ole Miss to win this game, but a decently close outcome might have built some confidence for the Rebels. Obviously, that didn't happen. The Ole Miss defense has been brutal through three games this season and the offense -- other than the first 75-yard touchdown -- looked out of sync. The Rebels will try to regroup next week against Kent State.

Alabama breezed to its first true road win of the season, and its most impressive feat was slowing down an Ole Miss offense that looked so good for the season's first two weeks. The secondary was burned on the opening play, but when Ole Miss tried another deep ball on the next drive, Trevon Diggs knocked it away and the Tide cruised to a dominant performance.

TUA KEEPS ROLLING

Tagovailoa has been the quarterback for 20 drives this season with 14 of them resulting in touchdowns. One of the others ended in a field goal.

Masked Writing Sample:

Oxford, Miss. - The top-ranked Alabama facing a rare bit of adversity Saturday night when the first attack of the Mississippi turned into a 75-yard goal pass from Jordan D Amato to K. Metcalf.

This fear lasted only 11 seconds.

Alabama will not allow the play to shake his confidence.

Strikes relentless from that point forward, the No. 1 Alabama, buried the University of Mississippi 62-7 in the Southeastern Conference opener, which quickly turned into a rout.

"We don't stop playing like that," Alabama defensive back Xavier said McKinney. "When the (falling) happened wasn't about that. We just kept going kept playing and I feel that we did a great job."

Tua Tagovailoa threw for 191 yards and two goals, Jerry Miguel barninger caught two scoring passes and the Tide offense rolled up 49 points before halftime. Alabama (3-0) total 516 yards and was so effective that Tagovailoa the evening was in the middle of the third quarter.

Left hand freshman completed 11 of 15 passes during his presence in the field. The tide then turned to Galen Hurt, who completed 7 of 10 passes for 85 yards, two goals and one interception.

That was from one side to the third quarterback Mac Jones in the game until the end of the third quarter. Alabama coach Nick Saban doesn't know the person who easily gives up control, I didn't have any complaints about how his team handled the first road game in a hostile environment.

"I'm going to have to give us a good rating in all these areas," said SABB. "It was a pleasure".

The University of Mississippi (2-1) suffered a second straight blowout loss to the Crimson Tide. The Rebels fell 66-3 last year in Tuscaloosa.

Jordan and the Maghreb, only completed 7 of 22 passes and 133 yards, one touchdown and two interception.

"We were able to make some plays, but it's hard because it's explanation time," Amo said. "I had to leave quickly or put it to work and not to resign. It also did a good job holding the ball that used to play for us."

The game was in doubt for a period of 11 seconds. This time he took the dila to the Union of the Arab Maghreb to find Metcalf's 75-yard touchdown that sent the vaught-Hemingway Stadium into a frenzy.

The euphoria did not last long. Alabama care.

The Tide scored just seven goals in half the time to do what he wants against PR

E Miss defense. There was plenty of evidence the rebels the struggle for the delay, including the community's rejection of 629 metres in southern Illinois last week, but the attack was still awesome.

"We know that we have to use momentum to perform make it a four quarter game," Ole Miss coach Matt Luke said.

"We didn't do it. We had chances in the beginning."

Remove

Few expected Ole Miss to win this game, but similar results may some confidence to the rebels. Obviously, this did not happen. Ole Miss defense has been brutal in three games this season and crime-but the first 75 yards of the target must be synchronized. Rebels try to regroup next week against Kent State.

Al flew the first true road win of the season and the most impressive one was to slow down the Ole Miss attack, which appeared in the first two weeks of the season. The secondary was burned on the opening of the game, but when the University of Mississippi attempted another deep ball on the following drive, Trevon Taylor knocked him out and the Tide cruised to a dominant performance.

Just keeps rolling

Tagovailoa was a cellar for 20 drives this season with 14 of them scoring goals. One of the others ended in the target domain.

i) South Carolina Original Writing Sample:

The South Carolina Gamecocks got back in the win column with their third straight victory over the Missouri Tigers on Saturday in Columbia. Let's take a minute to recognize the top performers from what was one of the crazier games South Carolina has played in recent memory.

Man, what a turnaround it's been for this guy. Last season, field goal attempts were a nerve-wracking and frustrating experience for Gamecocks fans, as White went 14-of-25 for just a 56 percent hit rate and missed most of his attempts beyond 40 yards or so. This season, White has been more consistent, with his only miss so far coming against Kentucky. Versus Missouri, White was a perfect 3-for-3, nailing a pair of 42-yarders — one of which was in driving rain — and then drilling the game-winning 33-yard score. The Gamecocks really needed the kicking game to improve, and South Carolina's staff has had unwavering loyalty to White throughout his struggles. Hopefully the light bulb has finally come on.

Let's just go ahead and be honest here: Even the most diehard, optimistic Gamecocks fans were probably worried about Scarnecchia getting his first start in relief of the injured Jake Bentley, even if they didn't want to admit it. Originally a Steve Spurrier recruit, Scarnecchia has been with the program since 2014, but had seen only a handful of snaps in garbage time and against lesser opponents. However, you wouldn't have known it based on his performance against Missouri: Scarnecchia went 20-of-35 for 249 yards with three touchdowns and no interceptions, ably spreading the ball around to Deebo Samuel, Bryan Edwards, Shi Smith, and even getting Kyle Markway involved. Perhaps most impressive was his confidence and composure, especially when he guided the Gamecocks down the field in just 1 minute, 16 seconds to secure the game-winning field goal attempt. (He also ate a peanut butter sandwich he'd brought along during the weather delay, which feels important to mention here.) Scarnecchia came off the bench in a big, big way, and certainly gave fans (and possibly the coaching staff) food for thought.

The coaches raved about the true freshman cornerback throughout fall camp, and five games into the season, it's easy to see why. A Day 1 starter, Horn has already made a name for himself within the Gamecocks' secondary, bringing stability and big play potential to a unit that was expected to be a weakness. Horn logged three tackles and broke up four passes against Missouri, one of them a critical play in the end zone, and did so cleanly without incurring interference penalties. Horn seems to have a nose for the ball and could be starting a special career at South Carolina.

Masked Writing Sample:

The South Carolina gamecocks returned to the win column with a second straight victory over the Missouri Tigers on Saturday in Columbia. Let's learn on the best performance of one of the strangest games South Carolina has played a role in recent memory.

The guy who was developing this man. Last season, fields, shots on goal were available and frustrating experience for fans of the gamecocks, as he went white 14-25 56 percent of the visits and missed most of his attempts for 40 yards or so. This season, White was more consistent with the only miss so far is against Kentucky. Against Missouri, White perfect 3-3 after being beaten by a pair of 42-yarders, one of which was in the pouring rain, and then dig winning 33-yard score. The Gamecocks really need a shock to improve the staff of South Carolina may not open Fidelity White all his life struggle. I hope the lamp finally went.

Let's proceed in to be honest: even the most diehard, optimistic fans of the gamecocks were probably worried Scarnecchia, getting his first start in the care of the injured Jake Bentley, even if they don't want to admit it. The original Steve Spurrier hire Scarnecchia with the program since 2014, but just saw some shots in garbage time against lesser opponents. However, you won't know what it is on the basis of his game against Missouri: Scarnecchia went 20 of 35 for 249 yards with three touchdowns and no interceptions, expertly spreading the ball around to the depot Samuel Brian Edwards, Shea Smith, and even Kyle's marquee battle. Perhaps most impressive was his confidence and composure, especially when he led the Gamecocks to pitch in only 1 minute, 16 seconds to secure the victory and try to score a goal. (As I ate a peanut butter sandwich he brought with him during the weather delay, which feels important to mention). Scarnecchia came as a substitute in the large, and, of course, gave fans (and probably coaching staff) to interact.

Coaches raved about a true freshman quarterback to fall on the five games into the season, it's easy to see why. Day 1-start of the century already made a name for himself in the Gamecocks secondary stability and great potential to play Division, which is expected to be weak. The Horns went three tackles and broke up four passes against Missouri, one of them a critical play in the end zone, and clean, without incurring penalties interference. Rog seems to be the nose of the ball can be the beginning of your career in South Carolina.

3. DEFENSE

a) Florida Original Writing Sample: Written by Thompson

A pre-game, locker-room pep talk from Florida legends Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel offered the Gators inspiration.

Moments later, coach Dan Mullen provided the energy to a sellout crowd, whipping it into a frenzy while he hopped up and down in the south end-zone tunnel and waved his arms like a man possessed.

The stage was a set for a emotional and memorable day in the Swamp.

Mullen and the No. 22 Gators did not disappoint during Saturday's 27-19 win over the No. 5 LSU Tigers.

"We keep finding different ways to win football games," Mullen said. "We get punched right in the face and we don't flinch. That's something that's huge for this team.

"Huge win for us. Huge win for us going forward."

With Tebow and the 2008 national-title team among the announced crowd of 90,283, the Gators (5-1, 2-1 SEC) and Tigers treated onlookers to an old-fashioned SEC slugfest followed by a fourth-quarter track meet.

Sophomore safety Brad Stewart, a New Orleans native, sealed the win on an interception returned for a 25-yard touchdown with 1:45 remaining in the game, sending the Swamp into pandemonium.

"Shoutout to Gator Nation because we couldn't hear a thing after that interception or the drive after that," Stewart said.

Mullen, the team's offensive coordinator in 2005-08, remembers those days well.

“There’s a Florida I know, there’s a Florida that I love,” the 46-year-old said. “It was that way tonight. The Swamp was an intimidating place to come play.”

Stewart’s pick was LSU quarterback Joe Burrow’s first interception of the season. The Ohio State transfer suffered another pick to end the next drive along with an unbeaten start for the Tigers (5-1, 2-1).

Stewart’s play highlighted a wild fourth quarter that featured the Gators’ most impressive drive of the season and ended with UF’s fourth straight win and its first against a top-10 opponent since 2015.

“Just a big-time win,” quarterback Feleipe Franks said. “It feels so good.”

With Tebow in town to be inducted into the UF Ring of Honor and the Gators’ trailing 19-14, Franks showcased the kind of versatility Tebow displayed during his decorated career. On the game-winning drive, Franks completed a 26-yard pass, had a 12-yard run and caught a 15-yard pass on a throwback from tight end Lucas Krull to set up Lamical Perine’s 2-yard touchdown run.

The touchdown put UF ahead 20-19 and was the game’s fourth lead change, the kind of back and forth that has come to be expected in this longstanding crossover rivalry.

“That was a heavyweight fight out there,” Mullen said.

The last four meetings were decided by a touchdown or fewer. A goal-line stand earned the Gators a win in 2016 and a missed extra point handed the Tigers’ a 17-16 decision last season in the Swamp.

Along with Tebow’s induction, his 2008 national-title team was honored at halftime.

UF’s players wanted to make those Gators proud and show the progress the program has made under Mullen.

“I talk about the Gator standard. These are the guys that set that standard,” Mullen said of Tebow and the 2008 team.

But on the game’s opening drive, LSU quickly sucked the life out of the Swamp.

LSU attacked UF’s defense by going up-tempo and identifying a weakness, backup cornerback C.J. McWilliams. McWilliams allowed three complete passes, beginning with a 38-yard catch by Justin Jefferson. The fast-paced, 10-play drive covered 75 yards in just 3:17, culminating in 4-yard touchdown run by tailback Nick Brossette.

The Gators failed to answer on offense. Things soon looked bleak as the Tigers drove the field again. But on first-and-10 from the UF 28, Gator pass rusher Jachai Polite turned the corner and strip-sacked Burrow to force the Tigers’ fourth turnover of the season.

The play would change the game’s complexion. The Tigers stalled and the Gators came to life.

Special teams would be key.

Twice, punter Tommy Townsend pinned the Tigers deep in their territory. The second time, Townsend’s punt left LSU starting from its 5.

A third-down sack by linebacker Vosean Joseph, who had a game-high 14 tackles, and poor punt by LSU gave the Gators the ball on the Tigers’ 43. From there, UF rode tailback Perine, who grinded out 26 tough yards on seven carries. Perine, who rushed for a season-high 85 yards and two scores, ended the nine-play drive with a 1-yard touchdown run with 12:30 to go in the first half.

“I was just getting into a rhythm,” Perine said. “Once I start getting confidence man, getting into that rhythm I feel like I’m a pretty dominant guy.”

LSU continued to move the ball, twice reaching into UF territory but only managed three points — on a 33-yard field goal by Cole Tracy for a 10-7 lead.

Franks and the Gators’ answered with arguably their best drive of the season, covering 75 yards in seven plays and 2:01. Franks’ picture-perfect 35-yard hook-up with Josh Hammond on a corner route was the highlight. Franks followed the play with a 3-yard touchdown pass to Moral Stephens to give UF a 14-10 lead.

Franks, though, would open the second half with the kind of mistake that marred last season but had been rare in 2018.

Franks opened the second half with a 49-yard completion to Hammond, giving the Gators the ball on the Tigers’ 13 following a personal-foul penalty by LSU on the play. On the next play, Franks lobbed a throw into the middle of the end zone and into the hands of LSU’s cornerback Jontre Kirklin.

LSU capitalized, but it would take awhile.

Trailing 14-10, the Tigers gashed the Gators for 80 yards on the ensuing drive after gaining just 118 yards the previous two quarters. Brossette had runs of 31 and 47 yards before scoring on a 1-yard touchdown.

LSU would not hold the 19-14 lead for long, with the Tebow-inspired Gators taking control in the final nine minutes and taking a big step toward creating their own legacy.

The Gators also are not getting ahead of themselves.

“It’s another step for us,” defensive back Chauncey Gardner-Johnson said. “We don’t dwell on one game.”

b) Masked by Auburn

A pre-game, locker-room pep talk from Florida legends Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel offered the Gators inspiration. With UF celebrating the 10-year anniversary of its 2008 national-championship team, Franks — much like Tebow did a decade ago — loaded the Gators on his back in the fourth quarter and ran, threw and even caught his team down the field for what turned out to be the game-winning touchdown.

At the end of his brief speech, Tebow whipped the crowd into a frenzy by saying, “I was born a Gator, I played as a Gator and I will die a Gator.” On this day, the Gators refused to die.

Huge win for us going forward.” With Tebow and the 2008 national-title team among the announced crowd of 90,283, the Gators (5-1, 2-1 SEC) and Tigers treated onlookers to an old-fashioned SEC slugfest followed by a fourth-quarter track meet.

“It feels so good.” With Tebow in town to be inducted into the UF Ring of Honor and the Gators’ trailing 19-14, Franks showcased the kind of versatility Tebow displayed during his decorated career.

“The Swamp was an intimidating place today.” Tebow was honored at the end of the first quarter when his name was unveiled on the north end zone facade where he joined five other Ring of Honor legends — Steve Spurrier, Jack Youngblood, Wilber Marshall, Emmitt Smith and Danny Wuerffel.

He then pitched the ball to tight end Lucas Krull on an end sweep before Krull threw it back to Franks, who caught the pass for 15 yards to the LSU 2.

“They helped set the Gator Standard, and today was a great way to show that Gator Standard is on its way back to where it should be.” An historic day for Tebow; a euphoric day for Franks.

Mission accomplished on Saturday when the Gators enjoyed their first sellout in three years and the Swamp was deliriously deafening just like it used to be in the Tebow years.

On the game-winning drive, Franks completed a 26-yard pass, had a 12-yard run and caught a 15-yard pass on a throwback from tight end Lucas Krull to set up Lamical Perine’s 2-yard touchdown run.

Franks opened the second half with a 49-yard completion to Hammond, giving the Gators the ball on the Tigers’ 13 following a personal-foul penalty by LSU on the play.

“Once I start getting confidence man, getting into that rhythm I feel like I’m a pretty dominant guy.” LSU continued to move the ball, twice reaching into UF territory but only managed three points — on a 33-yard field goal by Cole Tracy for a 10-7 lead.

The Swamp was an intimidating place to come play.” Stewart’s pick was LSU quarterback Joe Burrow’s first interception of the season.

And, then, on the very next play, as an ode to Tebow, Franks did a little Tebow rocker-step toward the goal-line and then stepped back and threw a 3-yard TD pass to tie the score 7-all.

But on first-and-10 from the UF 28, Gator pass rusher Jachai Polite turned the corner and strip-sacked Burrow to force the Tigers’ fourth turnover of the season.

The touchdown put UF ahead 20-19 and was the game’s fourth lead change, the kind of back and forth that has come to be expected in this longstanding crossover rivalry.

They scored their first touchdown shortly after Tebow’s induction — coincidence or destiny? — with Franks lofting a perfectly thrown 35-yard pass to Josh Hammond on the 3-yard line.

But before the pick-6 and after LSU went 80 yards on just four plays to take a 19-14 lead, Franks was absolutely Tebowesque.

As Tebow explained about the team he quarterbacked to the national championship a decade ago, “We had a lot of talent, but we had guys who were crazy competitive.

He did everything in leading the Gators 75 yards on nine plays for the go-ahead touchdown.

Perine, who rushed for a season-high 85 yards and two scores, ended the nine-play drive with a 1-yard touchdown run with 12:30 to go in the first half.

Let’s be honest, the Gators leaned heavily on their defense in the road victories against Tennessee and Mississippi State, and their defense was certainly impressive again on Saturday (see safety Brad Stewart’s pick-6 for the game-sealing touchdown with 1:45 left).

Moments later, coach Dan Mullen provided the energy to a sellout crowd, whipping it into a frenzy while he hopped up and down in the south end-zone tunnel and waved his arms like a man possessed.

Sophomore safety Brad Stewart, a New Orleans native, sealed the win on an interception returned for a 25-yard touchdown with 1:45 remaining in the game, sending the Swamp into pandemonium.

Mullen, the offensive coordinator and quarterback coach during that 2008 national-championship season, has been calling upon Gator Nation to rise up and return the Swamp to its old raucous, rollicking, pulsating, intimidating self.

Franks and the Gators’ answered with arguably their best drive of the season, covering 75 yards in seven plays and 2:01.

“This is the Florida that I know and the Florida that I love,” said Mullen, who was so pumped up before the game he began frenetically jumping up and down in the tunnel before storming onto the field with his team.

Franks followed the play with a 3-yard touchdown pass to Moral Stephens to give UF a 14-10 lead.

He completed only 12-of-27 passes for 161 yards with one touchdown and an ugly interception, but he came through when he had to.

On the next play, Franks lobbed a throw into the middle of the end zone and into the hands of LSU’s cornerback Jontre Kirklin.

Stewart’s play highlighted a wild fourth quarter that featured the Gators’ most impressive drive of the season and ended with UF’s fourth straight win and its first against a top-10 opponent since 2015.

“Shoutout to Gator Nation because we couldn’t hear a thing after that interception or the drive after that,” Stewart said.

“It was great having him [Tebow] and the that national-championship team back in the Swamp,” Franks said.

A third-down sack by linebacker Vosean Joseph, who had a game-high 14 tackles, and poor punt by LSU gave the Gators the ball on the Tigers' 43.

 These are the guys that set that standard," Mullen said of Tebow and the 2008 team.
 But on the game's opening drive, LSU quickly sucked the life out of the Swamp.
 Franks, though, would open the second half with the kind of mistake that marred last season but had been rare in 2018.
 The fast-paced, 10-play drive covered 75 yards in just 3:17, culminating in 4-yard touchdown run by tailback Nick Brossette.
 Trailing 14-10, the Tigers gashed the Gators for 80 yards on the ensuing drive after gaining just 118 yards the previous two quarters.
 A goal-line stand earned the Gators a win in 2016 and a missed extra point handed the Tigers' a 17-16 decision last season in the Swamp.
 The Gators failed to answer on offense.
 Brossette had runs of 31 and 47 yards before scoring on a 1-yard touchdown.
 LSU would not hold the 19-14 lead for long, with the Tebow-inspired Gators taking control in the final nine minutes and taking a big step toward creating their own legacy.
 The Ohio State transfer suffered another pick to end the next drive along with an unbeaten start for the Tigers (5-1, 2-1).
 He ran the option and pitched the ball to Lamical Perine for 17 yards.
 We loved them and embraced them." Well, Timmy, this was as big a moment as you could get in Dan Mullen's first year as Florida's head coach.
 "We keep finding different ways to win football games," Mullen said.
 We had a whole team of guys who thrived in the big moments.
 Maybe, just maybe, these Gators have a little bit of 2008 in them.
 Fans stood and chanted his name, "Te-bow! Te-bow!" A highlight montage of his four years of Gator glory burst onto the stadium JumboTron.
 UF's players wanted to make those Gators proud and show the progress the program has made under Mullen.
 On third-and-7, he ran the ball up the gut for 12 yards.
 The Tigers stalled and the Gators came to life.
 He completed a gorgeous 26-yard pass to Van Jefferson down the sideline.
 From there, UF rode tailback Perine, who grinded out 26 tough yards on seven carries.
 Perine ran it in from there for the 20-19 UF lead.
 A pre-game, locker-room pep talk from Florida legends Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel offered the Gators inspiration.
 "Just a big-time win," quarterback Feleipe Franks said.
 When the game was over, Franks thrust his fist into the air, high-fived fans during a celebratory lap around the stadium and got a congratulatory hug from Tebow.
 Hail to the Swamp.

c) Masked by Kentucky

A PRE-GAME, LOCKER-ROOM PEP TALK FROM FLORIDA LEGENDS TIM TEBOW AND DANNY WUERFFEL OFFERED THE GATORS INSPIRATION.
 MOMENTS LATER, COACH DAN MULLEN PROVIDED THE ENERGY TO A SELLOUT CROWD, WHIPPING IT INTO A FRENZY WHILE HE HOPPED UP AND DOWN IN THE SOUTH END-ZONE TUNNEL AND WAVED HIS ARMS LIKE A MAN POSSESSED.
 THE STAGE WAS A SET FOR A EMOTIONAL AND MEMORABLE DAY IN THE SWAMP.
 MULLEN AND THE NO. 22 GATORS DID NOT DISAPPOINT DURING SATURDAY'S 27-19 WIN OVER THE NO. 5 LSU TIGERS.
 "WE KEEP FINDING DIFFERENT WAYS TO WIN FOOTBALL GAMES," MULLEN SAID. "WE GET PUNCHED RIGHT IN THE FACE AND WE DON'T FLINCH. THAT'S SOMETHING THAT'S HUGE FOR THIS TEAM.
 "HUGE WIN FOR US. HUGE WIN FOR US GOING FORWARD."
 WITH TEBOW AND THE 2008 NATIONAL-TITLE TEAM AMONG THE ANNOUNCED CROWD OF 90,283, THE GATORS (5-1, 2-1 SEC) AND TIGERS TREATED ONLOOKERS TO AN OLD-FASHIONED SEC SLUGFEST FOLLOWED BY A FOURTH-QUARTER TRACK MEET.
 SOPHOMORE SAFETY BRAD STEWART, A NEW ORLEANS NATIVE, SEALED THE WIN ON AN INTERCEPTION RETURNED FOR A 25-YARD TOUCHDOWN WITH 1:45 REMAINING IN THE GAME, SENDING THE SWAMP INTO PANDEMONIUM.
 "SHOUTOUT TO GATOR NATION BECAUSE WE COULDN'T HEAR A THING AFTER THAT INTERCEPTION OR THE DRIVE AFTER THAT," STEWART SAID.
 MULLEN, THE TEAM'S OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR IN 2005-08, REMEMBERS THOSE DAYS WELL.
 "THERE'S A FLORIDA I KNOW, THERE'S A FLORIDA THAT I LOVE," THE 46-YEAR-OLD SAID.
 "IT WAS THAT WAY TONIGHT. THE SWAMP WAS AN INTIMIDATING PLACE TO COME PLAY."
 STEWART'S PICK WAS LSU QUARTERBACK JOE BURROW'S FIRST INTERCEPTION OF THE SEASON. THE OHIO STATE TRANSFER SUFFERED ANOTHER PICK TO END THE NEXT DRIVE ALONG WITH AN UNBEATEN START FOR THE TIGERS (5-1, 2-1).
 STEWART'S PLAY HIGHLIGHTED A WILD FOURTH QUARTER THAT FEATURED THE GATORS' MOST IMPRESSIVE DRIVE OF THE SEASON AND ENDED WITH UF'S FOURTH STRAIGHT WIN AND ITS FIRST AGAINST A TOP-10 OPPONENT SINCE 2015.
 "JUST A BIG-TIME WIN," QUARTERBACK FELEIPE FRANKS SAID. "IT FEELS SO GOOD."

WITH TEBOW IN TOWN TO BE INDUCTED INTO THE UF RING OF HONOR AND THE GATORS' TRAILING 19-14, FRANKS SHOWCASED THE KIND OF VERSATILITY TEBOW DISPLAYED DURING HIS DECORATED CAREER. ON THE GAME-WINNING DRIVE, FRANKS COMPLETED A 26-YARD PASS, HAD A 12-YARD RUN AND CAUGHT A 15-YARD PASS ON A THROWBACK FROM TIGHT END LUCAS KRULL TO SET UP LAMICAL PERINE'S 2-YARD TOUCHDOWN RUN. THE TOUCHDOWN PUT UF AHEAD 20-19 AND WAS THE GAME'S FOURTH LEAD CHANGE, THE KIND OF BACK AND FORTH THAT HAS COME TO BE EXPECTED IN THIS LONGSTANDING CROSSOVER RIVALRY.

"THAT WAS A HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHT OUT THERE," MULLEN SAID.

THE LAST FOUR MEETINGS WERE DECIDED BY A TOUCHDOWN OR FEWER. A GOAL-LINE STAND EARNED THE GATORS A WIN IN 2016 AND A MISSED EXTRA POINT HANDED THE TIGERS A 17-16 DECISION LAST SEASON IN THE SWAMP.

ALONG WITH TEBOW'S INDUCTION, HIS 2008 NATIONAL-TITLE TEAM WAS HONORED AT HALFTIME.

UF'S PLAYERS WANTED TO MAKE THOSE GATORS PROUD AND SHOW THE PROGRESS THE PROGRAM HAS MADE UNDER MULLEN.

"I TALK ABOUT THE GATOR STANDARD. THESE ARE THE GUYS THAT SET THAT STANDARD," MULLEN SAID OF TEBOW AND THE 2008 TEAM.

BUT ON THE GAME'S OPENING DRIVE, LSU QUICKLY SUCKED THE LIFE OUT OF THE SWAMP. LSU ATTACKED UF'S DEFENSE BY GOING UP-TEMPO AND IDENTIFYING A WEAKNESS, BACKUP CORNERBACK C.J. MCWILLIAMS. MCWILLIAMS ALLOWED THREE COMPLETE PASSES, BEGINNING WITH A 38-YARD CATCH BY JUSTIN JEFFERSON. THE FAST-PACED, 10-PLAY DRIVE COVERED 75 YARDS IN JUST 3:17, CULMINATING IN 4-YARD TOUCHDOWN RUN BY TAILBACK NICK BROSETTE. THE GATORS FAILED TO ANSWER ON OFFENSE. THINGS SOON LOOKED BLEAK AS THE TIGERS DROVE THE FIELD AGAIN. BUT ON FIRST-AND-10 FROM THE UF 28, GATOR PASS RUSHER JACHAI POLITE TURNED THE CORNER AND STRIP-SACKED BURROW TO FORCE THE TIGERS' FOURTH TURNOVER OF THE SEASON.

THE PLAY WOULD CHANGE THE GAME'S COMPLEXION. THE TIGERS STALLED AND THE GATORS CAME TO LIFE.

SPECIAL TEAMS WOULD BE KEY.

TWICE, PUNTER TOMMY TOWNSEND PINNED THE TIGERS DEEP IN THEIR TERRITORY. THE SECOND TIME, TOWNSEND'S PUNT LEFT LSU STARTING FROM ITS 5.

A THIRD-DOWN SACK BY LINEBACKER VOSEAN JOSEPH, WHO HAD A GAME-HIGH 14 TACKLES, AND POOR PUNT BY LSU GAVE THE GATORS THE BALL ON THE TIGERS' 43. FROM THERE, UF RODE TAILBACK PERINE, WHO GRINDED OUT 26 TOUGH YARDS ON SEVEN CARRIES. PERINE, WHO RUSHED FOR A SEASON-HIGH 85 YARDS AND TWO SCORES, ENDED THE NINE-PLAY DRIVE WITH A 1-YARD TOUCHDOWN RUN WITH 12:30 TO GO IN THE FIRST HALF.

"I WAS JUST GETTING INTO A RHYTHM," PERINE SAID. "ONCE I START GETTING CONFIDENCE MAN, GETTING INTO THAT RHYTHM I FEEL LIKE I'M A PRETTY DOMINANT GUY."

LSU CONTINUED TO MOVE THE BALL, TWICE REACHING INTO UF TERRITORY BUT ONLY MANAGED THREE POINTS " ON A 33-YARD FIELD GOAL BY COLE TRACY FOR A 10-7 LEAD.

FRANKS AND THE GATORS' ANSWERED WITH ARGUABLY THEIR BEST DRIVE OF THE SEASON, COVERING 75 YARDS IN SEVEN PLAYS AND 2:01. FRANKS' PICTURE-PERFECT 35-YARD HOOK-UP WITH JOSH HAMMOND ON A

d) Masked by LSU

A pre-game, a locker room talk from Florida legends Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel offered Gators inspiration. Moments later, coach Dan Mullen supplied the energy to a group of sold-offs, driving it crazy as he jumped up and down the tunnel to the south and waved his arms like a man possessed.

The stage was a set for an exciting and memorable day in the Swamp.

Mullen and the number 22 Gators did not disappoint during the victory on Saturday 27-19 on the Tigers LSU number 5. "We continue to find different ways to win football matches," said Mullen. "We punch each other in the face and do not hold back, which is something huge for this team.

"Great victory for us, great victory for us going forward".

With Tebow and the 2008 national title team amid the announced crowd of 90,283, the Gators (5-1, 2-1 SEC) and Tigers treated the spectators of an old SEC slugfest followed by a fourth-quarter meeting.

Sophomore Security Brad Stewart, a native of New Orleans, sealed the victory on an interception returned for a 25-yard landing with 1:45 left in play, sending the Swamp into pandemonium.

"Shoutout to Gator Nation because we could not hear anything after that interception or drive after," Stewart said.

Mullen, the team's offensive coordinator in 2005-08, remembers those days well.

"There's a Florida, I know, there's a Florida I love," said the 46-year-old. "It was so tonight." The Swamp was an intimidating place to come and play. "

Stewart's choice was the first interception of the season by Joe Burrow of the LSU quarterback. The transfer of the state of Ohio has undergone another choice to end the next drive along with an undefeated start for the Tigers (5-1, 2-1).

Stewart's match highlighted a fourth wild quarter that featured the most impressive race of the season at Gators and ended with the fourth consecutive UF victory and the first against a top-10 opponent since 2015.

"Just a big win," said quarterback Feleipe Franks. "It's so beautiful."

With Tebow in town to be included in the Ring of Honor UF and in the final period of the Gators 19-14, Franks showed the kind of versatility Tebow showed during his decorated career. In the wake of the game, Franks completed a 26-yard pass, a 12-yard run and took a 15-yard pass on a return from the tight end Lucas Krull to set Lamical Perine's 2-yard run down.

The touchdown brought the UF into the lead for 20-19 and was the fourth major advantage of the game, the kind of forward and back that is expected of this long-standing crossover rivalry.

"It was a heavy fight out there," said Mullen.

The last four matches have been decided by a touchdown or not. In 2016, the Gators won a victory in the goal line and an extra-time point gave the Tiger a 17-16 decision last season.

Together with the Tebow induction, its 2008 national title team was rewarded at the interval.

The UF players wanted to make those Gators proud and show the progress made by the program under Mullen.

"I'm talking about the Gator standard, these are the guys who set the standard," said Mullen from Tebow and the 2008 team.

But in the opening disk of the game, LSU quickly sucked life out of the swamp.

LSU attacked the defense of UF going up-time and identifying a weakness, backup cornerback C.J. McWilliams.

McWilliams conceded three complete passes, starting with a 38-yard catch from Justin Jefferson. The fast 10-player game covered 75 yards in just 3:17, culminating in a 4-yard touchdown run by tailback Nick Brossette.

The Gators did not respond to the offense. Soon things looked grim when the Tigers returned to lead the camp. But the first and the 10th of UF 28, Gator passes the rusher Jachai Polite turned the corner and sacked Burrow to force the fourth round of the Tigers' season.

The game would change the complexion of the game. The Tigers stopped and the Gator came alive.

Special teams would be essential.

Twice, Mr. Tommy Townsend blocked the Tigers in their territory. The second time, Townsend's punt left the LSU starting from 5.

A third bag of linebacker Vosean Joseph, who had a 14-high tackle, and a poor LSU punt gave Gators the ball on 43 of the Tigers. From there, the UF stalked the Perine tail, which ground 26 difficult yards seven leads. Perine, who rushed for 85 meters of the season and two points, ended the nine-play with a touchdown from 1 yard with 12:30 to be done in the first half.

"I was just getting into a rhythm," Perine said. "When I begin to trust myself, I feel at that pace

e) Masked by Mississippi State

Pep talk from Florida legendary Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel of the preliminaries of the locker room gives of the crocodile inspired.

Soon after, coach Dan * Mullen (Dan Mullen) will provide energy to a group of people, he jumped up and down in the south tunnel, like a man possessed by the same wave.

This step is an emotional and memorable day in the swamp.

Mullen and the crocodile No. 22 won the LSU Tigers in Saturday's 27-19 victory over No. 5 and did not disappoint.

"We are constantly looking for different ways to win football matches," Mullen said. "We get punches in the face, that we do not fall back. This is huge for this team.

"A great victory was won for us. A great success for our future."

With the announced crowd of 90,283 between Tebow and the national championship team of 2008, Crocs (5-1, 2-1 sec) and Tigers handle the onlookers in an old-fashioned second slugfest followed by a fourth-quarter track meet.

Sophomore security Brad Stewart, a native of New Orleans, sealed in an intercept success to restore the 25-yard-touchdown with a 1: 45 remaining match, the sending of the swamp in a big mess.

Stewart said: "Shout to the Gator Nation because we do not hear anything after the intercept, or after it."

Mullen, the team's offensive coordinator in 2005-08, remembers those days.

"With a Florida I know, with a Florida I'd like," said the 46-year-old. "This is the way tonight. The Swamp is a terrible place to play."

Stewart's choice is the first point of crossing of the season for LSU quarterback Joe Barrow. Ohio transfer suffered another pick-end for the next trip and an undefeated start for the Tigers (5-1, 2-1).

Stewart of the highlights of the game a wild fourth quarter, which was the most impressive match of the season by the Gators and ending in UF's fourth straight win and 10 opponents in the first place because the 2015.

"Just a huge win," said quarterback Philip Franks. "It feels great."

With Tebow introduced in the town in the UF Ring of honor and the following 19-14 of the Gators, Franks showed versatility showed in his career. In the race to be won, the Franks completed a 26-yard pass, a 12-yard run, and a 15-yard pass in the final sprint of Luke Krull to set up a 2-yard touchdown of Lamical Perine.

The touchdown puts UF ahead 20-19 and the game is the fourth that led to change, and this back and forth is projected in this long-term crossover competition.

"It was a heavyweight fight out there," said Mullen.

The last four meetings were decided by a touchdown or less. A goal-scoring stand won the success of the Gators in 2016, missed extra points last season in the swamp hand in the Tigers ' 17-16 decision.

With Tebow's dedication to duty, his 2008 national championship team was honored at halftime.

The UF players that want to make crocodiles proud and show the progress of the program under Mullen.

"I was talking about the crocodile standard. They are the people who set the standards," Mullen said Tebow and the 2008 team.

But driven by the opening of the game, LSU quickly sucks the life out of the swamp.

LSU attacks UF defense, by up-tempo and identifying vulnerabilities, backing up the cornerback C. J. McWilliams. McWilliams allows three full passes, starting with a catch of Justine Jefferson 38 yards. Fast-paced, 10-player Drive is covering 75 yards in just 3: 17, culminating in a 4-yard touchdown run by tailback Nick Brossette.

The hand-to-hand affair soon seemed cold the Tiger again in the field. But in the first and tenth session of the UF28, Gator pass rusher Jachai polite opened the corner and fired at the Burrow, forcing the Tigers ' fourth turnover this season.

The play is change the color of the game. The Tigers stalled and the crocodile is resurrected.

The task force is the key.

Two times, the banker Tommy Townsend nailed the Tigers deep in their territory. The second time, Townsend's punt left the LSU starting at 5.

The third down bag by linebacker Vosean Joseph, he had a game high of 14 tackles, while LSU the poor shepherd has given the crocodile to the Tigers ' 43. From there, UF rides Perine on his tail, and he crushes out 26 tough yards on seven conveyers. Perine, who washed up for a season-high 85 yards and two scores, finished with a nine-game 1-yard touchdown run at 12: 30 in the first half.

"I just got in a rhythm," Perine said. "Once I started to gain trust in people, getting into the rhythm, I felt like I was in a rather dominant person."

LSU continued to move the ball, twice reaching the territory of the UF, but managed only three points on a 33-yard field goal scored by Cole Tracy for the 10-7 lead.

The Franks and the Gators ' answer is arguably their best period, covering 75 yards in seven games and 2: 01. Franks picture-perfect 35 yards hook up Josh Hammond on a corner route was the highlight. Franks follows the play on a 3-yard touchdown pass moral Stephans gives UF a from 14 to 10 lead.

However, Franks is open in the second half, which was a mistake last time, but it is rare in 2018.

The second half of the Franks finished with a 49-yard finish for Hammond, after a personal foul in the game in LSU, gave the crocodile to the Tigers 13. In the next game, Franks threw a handful in the middle of the last zone and LSU's cornerback Jontre Kirklin.

Caused by the war in big letters, but it will take a while.

Then from 14 to 10, the Tigers secured 118 yards in the first two quarters. Brost run 31 and 47 yards, and then a touchdown with 1 yard.

LSU will not stick to the 19-14 lead for a long time, the Tebow-style crocodile takes control in the final nine minutes and takes a big step toward creating his own legacy.

Crocodiles also will not surpass their own.

"This is another step for us," said defensive guard Josie Gardner-Johnson. "We do not dwell on one game."

f) Masked by Ole Miss

Inspiring speeches from the Florida legends Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel inspired the Gators.

A moment later, coach Dan Mullen provided energy to a group of light-selling people, letting him run wildly, while he jumped up and down in the southern tunnel, waving his arms like a man.

The stage is a stage in the swamp that is full of emotions and unforgettable days.

Mullen and the 22nd Crocodile team did not disappoint in the 27-19 defeat of the 5th Louisiana University team on Saturday.

"We are always looking for different ways to win football matches," Mullen said. "We were punched in the face and we won't back down. This is a very important thing for this team.

"We have won a huge victory for us. We have a huge victory in progress."

With the announcement of Tebow and the 2008 national championship team of 90,283 people, Gators (5-1, 2-1 SEC) and Tigers brought onlookers to the old-fashioned SEC slufefest, followed by the fourth quarter.

Sophomore security officer Brad Stewart, a native of New Orleans, defeated the victory with a 25-yard touchdown of 1:45 in the game, leaving the swamp in chaos.

Stewart said: "To pay tribute to the crocodile country, because after that interception we can't hear anything or drive." From 2005 to 2008, the team's offensive coordinator, Ma Lun, recalled those days.

"I know Florida has one I like Florida," said the 46-year-old. "This is the case tonight. The swamp is a daunting place." Stewart's choice was for Louisiana State University quarterback Joe Burrow to intercept the season for the first time. The Ohio transfer took another draft to end the next game and the Tigers' unbeaten record (5-1, 2-1). Stewart's game highlights the fourth quarter of fanaticism, which is the most impressive performance of the Gators this season, and ended with UF's fourth consecutive victory, and for the first time since 2015 against the top 10 opponents. "Just a major victory," quarterback Felipe Franks said. "feels good."

As Tebow was introduced to the UF Honor Ring in the town and the Gators trailed 19-14, Franks showed the diversity that Tebow showed in his decorative career. In the game winning game, Franks completed a 26-yard pass, had a 12-yard run, and grabbed a 15-yard pass from a nervous Lucas Krull's comeback. Established a 2 yard touchdown score for La Pinee Palin.

The touchdown made UF lead 20-19 and was the fourth leading change in the game. This long-term cross-competition has already been expected.

"That is a heavyweight battle," Mullen said.

The last four meetings were made by touchdown or fewer decisions. A goal line position allowed the Gators to win the 2016 victory and missed an extra point. Last season Tigers made a 17-16 decision in Swamp.

With the appointment of Tibo, his 2008 national championship team won an honor at the end of the half. UF players want to make these Gators proud and show the progress the project has made under Mullen.

"I talked about the standards of crocodiles. These are the people who set this standard," Mullen spoke about Tibo and the 2008 team.

But at the start of the game, LSU quickly took life away from the swamp.

Louisiana State University attacked UF's defense through fast pace and finding a weakness, defender cornerback C.J. McWilliams. Mike Williams allowed three complete passes, starting with Justin Jefferson's 38-yard catch. The fast-paced 10-player race was 75 yards at 3:17 and was eventually scored 4 yards by guard Nick Brossette.

The Crocodile team failed to answer on the offensive end. As the Tigers started again, things quickly became bleak. But in the first and tenth place of UF 28, Gator passer Jachai Polite turned the corner and was fired Burrow to force the Tigers to make the fourth turnover this season.

The show will change the skin color of the game. The Tigers were stagnant and the Crocodile team was finally resurrected.

A special team will be the key.

Twice, the punter Tommy Townsend nailed the Tigers deep in their territory. The second time, Townsend's punt left LSU from the 5th.

The third time the players, consisting of linebacker Watson Joseph, scored a game-high 14 tackles and a bad punt from Louisiana State University, allowing the Tigers to play on the Tigers' No. 43 ball. Score. From there, UF rode guard Perine, who scored 26 tough sevens on the court. Perine rushed to the season's highest 85 yards and two points, ending nine games and scoring a 1-yard touchdown at 12:30 in the first half.

"I just got into the rhythm," Perry said. "Once I started to gain self-confidence and enter that rhythm, I think I am a very good person."

Louisiana State University continued to move the ball twice into the United Front, but only scored 3 points - Cortresi scored a 10-7 lead with a 33-yard field goal.

The answer from Franks and the Crocodile team is arguably the best motivation for the season, covering 75 yards in 7 games and 2:01. Franks has built a perfect 35-yard connection with Josh Hammond on the corner route, which is a bright spot. Franks followed the game and sent a 3-yard touchdown pass to the moral Stephens team, giving the league a 14-10 lead.

g) Masked by South Carolina

Tim Tebow and Danny Wuerffel, inspired by Florida legends, introduced the Gators' inspiration before the game. Moments later, coach Dan Mullen provided energy to a packed crowd, drove her mad by jumping into the tunnel in the south zone and waving her arms like a man possessed.

The scene was the scene of a moving and memorable day in the swamp.

Mullen and No. 22 Gators did not disappoint in Saturday's 19-19 win over No. 5 LSU Tigers.

"We continue to find different ways to win football games," said Mullen. "We are hit directly in the face and we do not shrink, which is huge for this team."

"Great victory for us, huge win for us in the future."

With Tebow and the world champion team in 2008 among the 90,283 announced spectators, the Gators (5-1, 2-1 SEC) and the Tigers invited spectators to an old-fashioned SEC club event followed a fourth quarter meeting.

Second Parental Security Brad Stewart, from New Orleans, sealed the win over an interception that was returned for a 25-yard touchdown where 1:45 remained in the match and the swamp was transferred to a pandemonium.

"Shoutout to Gator Nation because after this interception or the commute that followed, we could not hear anything," said Stewart.

Mullen, the team's attacking coordinator in 2005-08, remembers these days very well.

"There is a Florida I know, there is a Florida I like," said the 46-year-old. "It was like that tonight, the marsh was an intimidating place to come and play."

Stewart's choice was the first interception of the season with LSU quarterback Joe Burrow. The transfer from the state of Ohio once again had the choice to end the next stage, as well as an undefeated start for the Tigers (5-1, 2-1).

Stewart's match highlighted a fourth wild quarter with the most impressive round of the Gators season and ended with a fourth straight UF victory and the first against one of the top 10 opponents by 2015.

"Just a big win," quarterback Feleipe Franks said. "It's so good."

With Tebow in the city to be inducted into the UF's ring of honor and accumulated backlog in the 19-14 Gators game, Franks showed the kind of versatility Tebow has shown during his decorated career. Franks managed a 26-yard pass, a 12-yard run and a 15-yard pass on a request from the tight Lucas Krull stop to organize the 2-yard touchdown from Lamical Perine.

The touchdown suggested UF at 20-19 and was the fourth major change in the game, the kind of back-and-forth that was expected in this long-standing cross rivalry.

"It was a heavyweight fight there," said Mullen.

The last four meetings were decided by one touchdown or less. A goal-line score gave the Gators a win in 2016 and a missed extra point gave the Tigers a 17-16 decision in the swamp last season.

With the induction of Tebow, her national team for the 2008 title was honored at the break.

The UF players wanted to make these Gators proud and show the progress made by the program under Mullen.

"I'm talking about the standard Gator, who are the people who have defined this standard," said Mullen van Tebow and the 2008 team.

But during the first part of the game, LSU quickly sucked life out of the swamps.

LSU attacked UF's defense by accelerating and identifying a weak spot, back-cornerback C.J. McWilliams. McWilliams allowed three full passes, starting with Justin Jefferson's 38-yard effort. The quick 10-game offense led to 75 yards in just 3:17, leading to a 4-yard touchdown by halfback Nick Brossette.

The Gators could not react to the offense. The situation quickly became dark when the Tigers were back on the ground. But the first and tenth of the UF 28, the runner Gator Jachai Polite turned the corner and Burrow was dismantled to impose the fourth turnover of the season.

The game would change the complexion of the game. The tigers stopped and the Gators came to life.

Special teams would be the key.

Tommy Townsend has twice fired tigers deep inside their territory. The second time, Townsend left LSU from his 5.

A third bag from linebacker Vosean Joseph, who scored the game record with 14 tackles and a poor puncture at LSU, allowed the Gators to win the ball over the 43 of the Tigers. From there, UF took the tail of Perine, who dug 26 yards on seven yards. Perine, who has accumulated 85 yards and two scores, finished the nine-game race with a 1-yard touchdown with 12:30 left in the first half.

"I just had a rhythm," said Perine. "As soon as I have confidence in the man and I am at this rate, I feel that I am a pretty dominant person."

LSU continued to move the ball, reaching twice the UF territory but only three points - on a 33-yard placement by Cole Tracy for a 10-7 lead.

Franks and the Gators undoubtedly responded with their best performance of the season, more than 75 yards in seven innings and 2:01. Franks' 35-yard high point with Josh Hammond was the highlight. Franks followed the encounter with a 3-yard touchdown pass to Moral Stephens to give UF a 14-10 lead.

Franks, however, would open the second half with the kind of foul that was spoiled last season, but that was rare in 2018.

Franks opened the second half with a rounded 49-yard pass to Hammond and gave the ball to the Gators on the Tigers '13 after a personal LSU error on the play. On the next play, Franks pitched a shot in the middle of the goal area and passed in the hands of LSU cornerback, Jontre Kirklin.

LSU capitalized, but it would take a while.

With a 14-10 lead, the Tigers had 80 yards on the Gators after winning just 118 yards in the previous two quarters.

Brossette had 31 and 47 yards before scoring a 1-yard touchdown.

LSU will not be long in advance, with the Tebow inspired Gators taking control of the last nine minutes and taking a big step forward in creating their own legacy.

The Gators do not lead too much.

"It's a next step for us," said Chauncey Gardner-Johnson, in defense in the back. "We do not stay with a match."

h) Masked by Texas A & M

Pre- game, The Legend of Florida in the locker-room pep talk to inspire the team to look for alligators provided Te Wuerffel. After a moment, he jumped down from the south end, while energy practices that provide primary Dan Mullen, whip it into a frenzy shook John tunnels are owned by a person as his arm. A swamp on the left in the feelings and memories of that day stage set. The Saturday No.5LSU Tigers 27-19 win over No.22 bounty and crocodiles did not disappoint. "We know that to win a football game in different ways to find," Mullen said. "We are on the right side of a hole we can not hesitate. You will be a team," a huge victory. You can discover the true value for a huge win for us, "and Teddy report published in 2008 Crocs crowd of 90283, the international team haetneun (5-1,2-1SEC) is fashioned to handle spectators then hit the tiger SEC the pandemonium in four meets the second quarter of tracks in safe Brad Stewart, of New Orleans, blocking the victory sealing native, it sent a game remaining in the half 25-yard touch 1:45 swamp "so to Gator Country group since one can not hear because we are blocked or after the drive, "said Stuart neundago. Mullen, coordinator, 2005-08, in memory of the attack and the team is not doing it." there is love Florida, I know me. " 46-year-old said. "The day that way. Yieotneun swamp is home to blackmail. "Stewart was the choice of the Rural Life quarter ending another selection suffered the first block of the crude cave Ohio State transfer can not drive with: to start the tigers (5-1,2-1). since you want to use the Alligator caused "application of the season's most impressive drive ends highlighted the play of Stewart's fourth straight victory on the internet and 2015. for the first year for him top10 is "just a big win," said Frank Feleipe back neundago "too nice." Te beams and honor and crocodiles in India UF ring as in the village "behind 19-14, Frank is the kind of diversity that Te Bo Exhibition decorate his career during the show. to win the game drives, Frank tie in the transfer is complete, 26-yard pass, run the 12-yard and 15-yard catch in Set the end Lucas keureol and Lamical Perine 2-yard run single in touch. UF ahead 20-19 in the game and put the touch fourth-degree change, the kind of back and forth, it will compete in the Highlands crossover that can come to expect. " fight in the heavyweight division there, "Mullen said. the last four to one is or ever meeting decided acquisition standing goal line to win the highest grade is added, the 2016 jeomson tiger is determined from" July 17 to 16, the swamp in the last season a. with the induction of Tebow, he went on the international team honor in 2008. UF wanted to make the players a bounty program that created the Alligator are proud to show progress. "I'm talking about the standard data. To set these standards, "Te reported in 2008 a team of bounty said. But in the face of the Games opening drive, quickly sucked LSU jumped out of their lives. The defense of LSU attack UF identify up-tempo and weaknesses, and backup CJ is back corner McWilliams. McWilliams will allow Justin Jefferson 38 yard catch by starting three complete passes to be. Fast-paced, 10-play drive covered 75 yard just culminated at 3:17, 4 yard touch ... it did not disappoint on the run by Nick Brossette a crime to fail to respond to a crocodile, things soon looked duwo drove the tigers back to the field, but in the first -10 UF28, stone Gay pass rush Jachai for the corners and the strip-fired oysters force the tigers' fourth turnover of the game, it is the skin that changes the playback tiger has been stagnant and crocodiles. a special team is key . Twice our Tommy is his area of ??deep-frozen Townsend Tigers to two is from punt left LSU Townsend first five third is by the sack down Vosean that Joseph games - high 14 tackles and a poor punt over LSU Associate balls tiger crocodile is '43. to use the application, from there take the Internet, do not disappoint in Perine, grinded26 tough yards. Perine, who rushed nine seasons quit high 85 yard and two scores play drive one yard touchdown to run the first half 12:30 to go in. "I'm just a rhythm," said Perine. "If you are feeling more and more confident, to get the rhythm, I like people, I started pretty dominant guy," continues to move LSU view, to use the application to reach a double-10-7 tray by only one call in the Internet zone management and three-point field production -33 You, Frank, and the Crocodile 'is their best drive of the season, no doubt to the answer, you play with 2:01 to 75 covering the yard. Frank' picture perfect 35 Micro Joe Hammond was in the corner. Frank then provide moral Stevens pass in three US amusement touch with UF a14-10. Frank, however, the second half opened one kind of mistake is damaged by opening the 2018. Frank was only a rare last season finished in the second half 49-yard Hammond, balls Tiger Gator by personal fouls, such as 2013, and then play in the penalty LSU. Then, play it back Jontre Kirklin hand corner of LSU in the area of ??the middle horse to Frank lobbed. As LSU capitalized, but it is a little while. Behind 14-10, after obtaining the ensuing drive to Tiger shell prosthesis 80 yards just two of the previous quarter to 118 yard. Execution of Brossette did score 31 de 47 1. Touch the yard. LSU would not hold a long 19-14 Tebow for - the final nine minutes of his heritage to create a big step towards the Gators taking under control. Getting ahead of yourself, it does not even crocodiles. "It's another step we are about," said defensive back Chauncey Gardner Johnson. "We do not live in a single game."

i) Masked by Tennessee

A Pre-Game, Room Incitement From Florida Legends Tim Tebow And Danny Wuerffel Offered The Gators Inspiration.

Moments Later, Coach Dan Mullen Provided The Energy To A Treachery Crowd, Whipping It Into A Manic Disorder Whereas He Hopped Up And Down Within The South End-Zone Tunnel And Waved His Arms Sort Of A Man Possessed.

The Stage Was A Group For A Emotional And Unforgettable Day Within The Swamp.

Mullen And Also The No. Twenty Two Gators Failed To Bilk Throughout Saturday's 27-19 Persuade The No. Five Lsu Tigers.

"We Keep Finding Alternative Ways To Win Soccer Games," Mullen Aforementioned. "We Get Punched Right Within The Face And That We Do Not Flinch. That Is One Thing That Isbrobdingnagian For This Team.

"Huge Win For Usa. Brobdingnagian Win For Usa Going Forward."

With Tebow And Also The 2008 National-Title Team Among The Declared Crowd Of Ninety,283, The Gators (5-1, 2-1 Sec) Associate In Nursingd Tigers Treated Onlookers To An Old Style Sec Combat Followed By A Fourth-Quarter Meet.

Sophomore Safety Brad Stewart, A Brand New Orleans Native, Sealed The Win On Associate In Nursing Interception Came For A 25-Yard Touchdown With 1:45 Remaining Within The Game, Causation The Swamp Into Topsy-Turvydom.

"Shoutout To Crocodilian Nation As A Result Of We Have A Tendency To Couldn't Hear A Issue At That Time Interception Or The Drive At That Time," Stewart Aforementioned.

Mullen, The Team's Offensive Organiser In 2005-08, Remembers Those Days Well.

"There's A Florida I Do Know, There Is A Florida That I Really Like," The 46-Year-Old Aforementioned. "It Was That Manner Tonight. The Swamp Was Associate In Nursingdaunting Place To Return Play."

Stewart's Decide Was Lsu Quarterback Joe Burrow's Initial Interception Of The Season. The Ohio State Transfer Suffered Associate In Nursingother Decide To Finish The Following Drive Together With An Unconquered Begin For The Tigers (5-1, 2-1).

Stewart's Play Highlighted A Wild Fourth Quarter That Featured The Gators' Most Spectacular Drive Of The Season And Over With Uf's Fourth Straight Win And Its Initial Against A Top-10 Opponent Since 2015.

"Just A Big-Time Win," Quarterback Feleipe Franks Aforementioned. "It Feels Thus Sensible."

With Tebow In City To Be Inducted Into The Uf Ring Of Honor And Also The Gators' Trailing 19-14, Franks Showcased The Sort Of Skillfulness Tebow Displayed Throughout His Adorned Career. On The Game-Winning Drive, Franks Completed A 26-Yard Pass, Had A 12-Yard Run And Caught A 15-Yard Expire A Throwback From End Film Producer Krull To Line Up Lamical Perine's 2-Yard Touchdown Run.

The Touchdown Place Uf Ahead 20-19 And Was The Game's Fourth Lead Modification, The Sort Of Back And Forth That Has Come Back To Be Expected During This Longcrossover Competition.

"That Was A Heavyweight Fight Out There," Mullen Aforementioned.

The Last Four Conferences Were Determined By A Touchdown Or Fewer. A Goal-Line Stand Attained The Gators A Win In 2016 And A Incomprehensible Conversion Handed The Tigers' A 17-16 Call Last Season Within The Swamp. ALONG WITH TEBOW'S INDUCTION, HIS 2008 NATIONAL-TITLE TEAM WAS HONORED AT INTERRUPTION.

UF'S PLAYERS WISHED TO FORM THOSE GATORS PROUD AND SHOW THE PROGRESS THE PROGRAM HAS CREATED BELOW MULLEN.

"I DISCUSS THE CROCODILIAN CUSTOMARY. THESE ARE THE FELLOWS THAT SET THAT CUSTOMARY," MULLEN AFOREMENTIONED OF TEBOW AND ALSO THE 2008 TEAM.

BUT ON THE GAME'S GAP DRIVE, LSU QUICKLY SUCKED THE LIFE OUT OF THE SWAMP.

LSU ATTACKED UF'S DEFENSE BY GOING UP-TEMPO AND DISTINGUISHING A WEAKNESS, BACKUP FOOTBALL PLAYER C.J. MCWILLIAMS. MCWILLIAMS ALLOWED 3 COMPLETE PASSES, STARTINGWITH A 38-YARD CATCH BY Justin President Jefferson. The Fast, 10-Play Drive Lined Seventy Five Yards In Mere 3:17, Culminating In 4-Yard Touchdown Travel By Tailback Nick Brossette.

The Gators Didn't Answer On Offense. Things Shortly Looked Bleak Because The Tigers Drove The Sphere Once More. However On First-And-10 From The Uf Twenty Eight, Crocodilian Pass Rusher Jachai Polite Turned The Corner And Strip-Sacked Burrow To Force The Tigers' Fourth Turnover Of The Season.

The Play Would Modification The Game's Complexion. The Tigers Stalled And Also The Gators Came To Life.

special groups would be key.

twice, punter tommy meliorist stapled the tigers deep in their territory. the second time, townsend's punt left lsu ranging from its five.

a third-down sack by linebacker vosean joseph, united nations agency had a game-high fourteen tackles, and poor punt by lsu gave the gators the ball on the tigers' forty three. from there, uf rode tailback perine, united nations agency grinded out twenty six robust yards on seven carries. perine, united nations agency hurried for a season-high eighty five yards and 2 scores, over the nine-play drive with a 1-yard touchdown run with 12:30 to travel within the half.

"i was simply stepping into a rhythm," perine aforementioned. "once i begin obtaining con artist, stepping into that rhythm i want i am a reasonably dominant guy."

lsu continuing to maneuver the ball, doubly reaching into uf territory however solely managed 3 points — on a 33-yard field goal by cole thespian for a 10-7 lead.

Franks and also the Gators' answered with arguably their best drive of the season, covering 10 LEAD.

frANKS, THOUGH, WOULD OPEN THE LAST HALF WITH THE SORT OF MISTAKE THAT MARRED LAST SEASON HOWEVER HAD BEEN RARE IN 2018.

frANKS OPENED THE LAST HALF WITH A 49-YARD COMPLETION TO hAMMOND, GIVING THE gATORS THE BALL ON THE tIGERS' THIRTEEN FOLLOWING A PERSONAL-FOUL PENALTY BY lsu ON THE PLAY. oN THE FOLLOWING PLAY, frANKS LOBBED A THROW INTO THE CENTER OF THE TIP ZONE AND INTO THE HANDS OF lsu'S FOOTBALL PLAYER jONTRE kIRKLIN.

lsu CAPITALIZED, HOWEVER IT MIGHT TAKE FOR A WHILE.

tRAILING 14-10, THE tIGERS INJURED THE gATORS FOR EIGHTY YARDS ON THE FOLLOWING DRIVE WHEN GAINING SIMPLY 118 YARDS THE PREVIOUS 2 QUARTERS. bROSSETTE HAD RUNS OF THIRTY ONEAND FORTY SEVEN YARDS BEFORE GRADING ON A 1-YARD TOUCHDOWN.

lsu WOULDN'T HOLD THE 19-14 LEAD FOR LONG, WITH THE tEBOW-INSPIRED gATORS TAKING MANAGEMENT WITHIN THE FINAL 9 MINUTES AND TAKING AN ENORMOUS STEP TOWARD MAKING THEIR OWN GIFT.

tHE gATORS ARE NOT OBTAINING BEFORE THEMSELVES.

"iT'S ANOTHER STEP FOR usa," DEFENSIVE BACK cHAUNCEY gARDNER-jOHNSON AFOREMENTIONED.

"wE DO NOT HESITATE ONE GAME."seventy five yards in seven plays and 2:01. Franks' picture-perfect 35-yard hook-up with chaff Hammond on a corner route was the highlight. Franks followed the play with a 3-yard touchdown pass to ethical Stephens to present UF a 14-